J. BOB TRAXLER
... Winner in Michigan

Winner Traxler Calls Nixon 'Albatross to GOP'

SAGINAW, Mich. (UPI) — J. Bob Traxler, who Tuesday night scored a solid victory in a congressional district that has not gone Democratic since the depression, said President Nixon was an "albatross" around the neck of the Republican party.

Traxler, a state representative for 13 years, defeated Republican opponent James M. Sparling Jr., a onetime Nixon aide in the 8th Congressional District in Michigan's thumb area, by 58,153 votes to 55,118 for Sparling with 292 of 301 precincts reporting.

"Nixon," Traxler said, "is a Republican problem and not a Democratic one."

The 42-year-old Traxler, who has represented the area since 1962 at the state level, said it was a "mistake" for Nixon to campaign last week on behalf of Sparling.

"If I was a Republican, I would not want the Nixon albatross around my neck in November," he said in a victory statement after Sparling conceded the race. "They (the GOP) are going to have problems this November."

The special election was called after Rep. James Harvey resigned earlier to take a federal judgeship.

The Democratic victory was the fourth in five special Congressional elections this year and was the last major election before November.

Nixon personally intervened in the election last week when he toured along a 57-mile route in the mostly rural seven county area.

It was the first time since the President won re-election in 1972 that he campaigned on behalf of a Republican candidate.

Sparling, 45, making his first political race, said Nixon's visit did not have an impact on the outcome of the election.

"I don't think he (Nixon) helped or hurt me," Sparling said in a news conference. "If this campaign was lost, it was lost by Jim Sparling," he said.

Sparling also told Traxler "You'd better be a working Congressman and you'd better serve the district."

Traxler scored heavily in his own home Bay County and in industrialized Saginaw but he also ran unexpectedly strong in the rural areas of the counties near Lake Huron on Michigan's Eastern Shore.

Traxler had hit Watergate hard during his campaign and as the vote count proceeded, Democratic party workers attending a celebration chanted, "Impeach, Impeach, Impeach."

Traxler said his victory came from a "new populist movement" in the country.

Despite the loss by Republicans of four out of five special congressional elections this year, GOP National Chairman George Bush said today he is confident of a better showing by the party in next November's general elections.

Bush conceded he was "terribly disappointed" over the latest Republican setback, Traxler's victory over Sparling in Michigan's Eighth Congressional District, but said:

"In the fall you're going to have a different field. You're going to have the incumbents up. I think you're going to have changed conditions on employment, on Watergate, on energy and so I think we got a new ballgame when those ingredients are all present."

Bush, a former congressman, was interviewed in Washington on the CBS-TV Morning News program.

Traxler said his slim victory was a repudiation of President Nixon, who personally campaigned for Sparling during a one-day swing into the eighth district last week. Traxler was the first Democrat to be elected from his district since 1932.

Vice President Gerald Ford, vacationing in Palm Springs, Calif., said Sparling's defeat heightened his concern over the effect of either party gaining one-sided control in Congress.

Ford told a CBS reporter: "The trend as I see it at the moment at least is for the Democrats to end up potentially with an overwhelming majority which leads to further legislative dictatorship and I don't think that's good for the country."

Ford said the Sparling defeat was not necessarily "a good omen as far as the American political scene is concerned. We lost and we have to concede that it's not good as far as the country is concerned."

$300,000 Price Tag On BPW Equipment

KINGSTON Cole. "Let's just say we expect it to be expensive."

Indecent, it will take a substantial bond issue to pay for it; none of the equipment was included in the 1974 budget.

The "shopping list" is enough to activate the salivary glands of any public works superintendent. With the exception of snow plows, the equipment up for bid by the city would be enough to stock almost any town highway department in the county.

It includes four refuse packers — two are 1967 models, one is a 1964 model, the other is a 1970. Three half-ton rear-wheel drive pickup trucks — "What we've got left isn't worth trading," says Cole, a pair of BPW Superintendents Charles J. 1965s, and a 1947 model.

Three half-ton rear-wheel drive pickup trucks — "What we've got left isn't worth trading," says Cole, a pair of BPW Superintendents Charles J. 1965s, and a 1947 model.

Four five-yard dump trucks — all four are 1965 models, one is out of service so Cole expects some trade-in there.

Two station wagons — both are 1966.

One Educator — used for sewer maintenance, the city is trading in the "newer one." It's a 1953 model. The 1950 model isn't any good for sewage work but it can be used to plow snow.

One tower truck — The city is using a 1961 model it bought second hand from Central Hudson in 1968. It's used by the traffic electrician for installing traffic lights.

One pavement strip — the city now uses the (manual) "walk behind models" designed mostly for crosswalks and parking delineation. The city would retain its manual models and add an automatic strip to its fleet. The automatic could do Broadway in a few hours. The "walkers" could take a few weeks.

One vacuum sweeper — "Sort of a new version of the type of (street) sweepers that we have now," says Cole. The city has two, the newest a 1971 model. They lift dirt mechanically into a self contained container.

One tandem roller — The city is now operating a 1960 model. "That's what we roll our pavement with," Cole explains. And finally, the "granddaddy" of them all. "You better hold your hat, boy," said Cole, "because what we're operating with here is an Ingersoll-Rand compressor from the WPA days. We don't know how old the compressor is, we just assume it's a hell of a lot older than the chassis it's mounted on." It's mounted on a 1936 Ford Chassis.

Cole was also asked why the BPW was recommending a purchase of this magnitude, why it couldn't be spread out over a few years.

"It's only going to be a matter of time before the (federal) Occupational Hazard Act of 1971 is going to mandate that all equipment of this nature be replaced during a ten year period," Cole explained. "It's imperative that we update our fleet to put it on a five-year rotational basis."

UDC Housing...New Occupants Are Happy to Move

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON "Naturally we had hoped to be in by Nov. 1 and yes, we did get concerned with all the delays but we're in now and we're glad to be there."

Those were the sentiments expressed Tuesday by Mrs. Mildred Storms, 58, as she moved into the $4.1 million Urban Development Corporation (UDC) Broadway East Housing, just behind city hall.

Delays, there's been a few, but Mrs. Storms' attitude of bygones being bygones seems to be prevailing. Originally set to open on June 1, 1973, the official opening was delayed until the aforementioned Nov. 1, 1973, then it was Jan. 1, 1974 and then March 1, 1974 and finally, "between April 1 and April 15" It opened on April 15.

Mrs. Storms, who has lived at the corner of Dock Street and Ravine Street for the past 38 years, has moved into UDC with her mother, who at 85 seems just as eager to move as her daughter.

Despite the fact that they'll be paying considerably more rent—$104 compared to $39—Mrs. Storms says she's glad to be moving. "When they were building it, I figured it would be like Kingston Housing Authority. You know, income limitations. I even called Albany. I put my name on the list a year ago."

Mrs. Storms says she likes the UDC project because of its proximity to her grandchildren and the modern conveniences. "I was here 38 years," she said. "I hope I'm there as long."

Mrs. Harriet Feinman, rental agent, said 30 units of the 122-unit development will be occupied by May 1. The numbers, though, can be deceiving. "We've got 180 applications on file," she said.

There are eight efficiency apartments which Mrs. Feinman said will rent for $127 a month; 20 one-bedroom apartments which will rent for $148 and $157 a month (the more expensive have porch-balconies) 70 two-bedroom apartments which will rent for between $179 and $183 a month and 23 three-bedroom apartments at a monthly rental of $208.

Monthly rentals include utilities (with the exception of cable television) refrigerator and range. Accommodations are available for the installation of air conditioners.

UDC supplied the mortgage money for the $4.1 million project when ground was broken in April of 1971. Almost immediately subterranean problems were encountered and another $300,000 had to be poured in to pay for pilings.

Construction was actually completed last summer but the sale of equities in the project, a complicated formula whereby the developer, Leon Pearlstein, had to sell 95 per cent of the project to investors before any apartments could be rented, held up occupation for almost a year.

Now it appears that all systems are go at Broadway East Housing. The rental office is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., weekdays and if Mrs. Feinman isn't available, O.C. Hardin, the resident superintendent, will be.

"I'm glad it's over," said Mrs. Feinman of the series of delays that culminated on April 15, paradoxically providing a new beginning for people like Mrs. Storms and her mother.

Esopus Town Planning Board... Problem Continues

By JON POWERS

PORT EWEN — The Esopus Town Planning Board remains one member short — a situation other board members say severely restricts their ability to perform their designated duties — following a special meeting of the town board Tuesday night.

The town board tried twice — and failed twice — to appoint a new member to the planning board Tuesday night. Each time, there were two votes in favor, two against, and one abstention.

Two months ago, the planning board unanimously recommended that Mrs. Helen Oberkirch be appointed to fill a vacancy on the planning board. Planning board chairwoman Doris Mulvin said Tuesday night that Mrs. Oberkirch's prior experience (she is a former member of the planning board) and knowledge of the zoning ordinance would constitute a valuable addition to the board.

But at Tuesday's meeting, Councilman Thomas Johnson nominated Richard Terpening for the planning board vacancy. The nomination was seconded by Councilman Frank Bell, but the motion died when they couldn't get a third vote. Councilman John Bowman then nominated Mrs. Oberkirch. Supervisor George Freer seconded the motion. That nomination, likewise, died for want of a third vote.

Councilman George Villiemi abstained each time, stating he wanted more time to study the matter.

Supervisor Freer said an appointment would definitely be made at the next regular meeting of the board.

That, however, wasn't why the town board was meeting in the first place. Members of the town board, the planning board, the zoning board of appeals — and the building inspector — all gathered under the wrath of Port Ewen resident Richard Wagner, who wants to build a garage in front of his house.

Wagner last year applied for a zoning variance to build the garage. He was first denied permission by the building inspector, and later by a unanimous vote of the zoning board of appeals. The zoning law states that no accessory building (in this case, the garage) can be placed closer to the roadway than the principal building on the property (Wagner's house, in this instance).

After much discussion — some of it quite heated — it was agreed that the building inspector and the zoning board of appeals will inspect the site again; Wagner will apply for a re-hearing. If he doesn't get satisfaction after all that, said Town Attorney Norman Keller, he can appeal through the courts.

One other topic was discussed at the informal town board session Tuesday night: a request by the Esopus Township Sportsmen's Club to break its lease with the town for the old West Park School site, which it has used as a headquarters since 1968.

The sportsmen say it is simply costing them too much money to heat the building during the winter. They pay $125 in rent per year and, according to town officials, have done considerable renovation work at the site. The lease is due to run out in 1976.

While the sportsmen want out, the Esopus Fire Department representatives said Tuesday they want to buy the land for the future site (possibly) of a new fire station. They emphasized that they probably won't use the building for several years, and that the sportsmen are more than welcome to continuing using it. They simply want ownership of the building for when the time comes to build. Town officials said they have no objections at all to that arrangement.

City Zoning Board Acts on Petitions

KINGSTON — The city's Zoning Board of Appeals had two controversial petitions on its agenda April 9, one uptown, the other downtown, one involving an existing condition, the other seeking permission to construct.

One was withdrawn and the other has been conditionally approved by the board.

William Zang withdrew his petition to build some 40 units on 7.3 acres of land he owns off Lounsbery Court. Zang said there were some legal technicities he had to clarify. About 50 persons, with a petition with more than 200 signatures appeared at the public hearing.

The petition downtown by the Hurley Sand and Gravel Corp. has still not been finally resolved. The gravel bank, owned by Dwyer Lighterage, is located at 639-701 Abeel Street, in a residential area. Residents have been complaining about the operation for some time.

The board gave conditional approval but on the condition that fences be erected, a night watchman be hired and drainage problems be corrected. Failure to comply with any of the board's mandates could result in the revocation of the one-year special permit.

In other action, the board approved six requests for special permit renewals among them a request from Joseph and Loretta Flowers for the continuance of a ceramic studio at 120 Grant Street; Gerhon Auto Parts for the continued use of parking and storage of motor vehicles on a lot at 214-215 East Strand; Harry Pratt's operation of Toddler Towne day care center at 144 Elmendorf Street; John Levy's continued use of 8 St. James Court for an insurance business; Philip and Carolyn Cullum's continued use of an auditorium at 165 Tremper Avenue for training classrooms and Gerald Arroyo's continued use of 85 Abeel Street for offset printing.

Requests by the Pine Street Professional Park to erect a pharmacy on their property will be resubmitted as will be a request by Joseph A. Colangelo for continued use of an overhanging sign at his liquor store at 567 Abeel Street.

Variances approved included one for an overhanging sign for Kingston Linoleum and Carpet Inc. at 682 Broadway; one for Clare Egan to convert a one-family house at 60 East Chester Street into two families and Edward Wemett's request for a single story addition closer to the side lot line at 10 Pearl Street.

A request by Katrine Realty Corp. for a variance to amend a previous variance for the erection of a building for storage and office space at 365 Washington Avenue was rejected.

Fire Damages Bus

A charter bus from Jamaica, N. Y., was damaged by fire today on the Thruway about three miles north of New Paltz. New Paltz firemen were at the scene for about an hour. The blaze started in the vicinity of a front wheel, firemen said. No injuries to passengers were reported. The bus driver, who was not immediately identified, suffered minor burns of the hands, but did not require hospital treatment.

Refuse to Hear Slutsky Appeal

ELLENVILLE — The U.S. Supreme Court has refused to hear an appeal by Ben J. and Julius Slutsky, owners of the Nevele Hotel in Ellenville, who were convicted last year of evading more than $761,000 in federal income tax from 1965 through 1967.

The two brothers are now left under an appeals court ruling that set a $30,000 fine and a five year prison term for each. The Slutskys have now exhausted the appeal process.

The two were sentenced March 19, 1973 to five years in prison. Ben Slutsky was fined $40,000 and Julius Slutsky was fined $35,000. But on Sept. 24, the Court of Appeals reduced the fines to $30,000 each, while retaining the prison sentence.

The two brothers, according to the Internal Revenue Service, also face civil taxes and penalties totaling $1 million each.

The IRS alleged that Ben and Julius Slutsky failed to report $1.4 million in income for 1965, 1966 and 1967.

Repair Fraud Bill Approved

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The legislature has approved a bill that would allow the state to close down any auto repair shop for fraud, negligence or overcharging.

The measure, which would also give customers the right to receive a guaranteed cost estimate on repairs before the work is done, was approved by the Assembly 99-22 on Tuesday and sent to Gov. Malcolm Wilson. It had been approved two weeks ago in the Senate.

Some legislators objected that the bill would put too high a burden on the repair shops, but Assemblyman Eugene Levy, R-Rockland, the sponsor, called it "a major consumer protection bill."

In other developments at the Capitol Tuesday:

—The Assembly approved and sent to the Senate a bill to establish a state Office of Energy and Resources to anticipate and alleviate future resource shortages such as the current energy situation.

—Gov. Malcolm Wilson signed into law a bill banning sex discrimination in loan-making. The measure is the first major women's rights legislation enacted during the current session.

—Wilson and Republican legislative leaders met for several hours but reported no agreement on the major issues which stand in the way of adjournment, such as school aid and campaign-law revisions. "I had hoped to be further along than we are now," said Assembly Speaker Perry Duryea. "We have a lot of work to do."

Under the auto repair bill, all repair shops which do anything other than such minor work as oil changes would have to get a license from the state Department of Motor Vehicles.

The department could revoke the license of any shop found "guilty of fraud or fraudulent or deceptive practices," to have been "grossly negligent on two or more occasions in the performance of any repair," or to have "grossly overcharged on two or more occasions."

The measure would require shops to give customers detailed invoices of all labor done and parts used. If the customer requests an estimate before the work is done, the shop could not exceed the estimate without obtaining the customer's permission.

Each shop would have to pay $100 annually for the license, and the department could assess fines of up to $100 for each violation of the rules in the bill.

The department could deny a license to any would-be operator who "has failed to furnish satisfactory evidence of good character, reputation and fitness."

The same bill passed the Senate last year but was killed in the Assembly.

A companion bill would allow voluntary certification of auto mechanics. Motorists could use

Lloyd Board Seeking Financial Aid

By WADE BURKHART

LLOYD The Town of Lloyd is about to take the unusual step of asking the Ulster County Legislature to pass enabling legislation to allow it to issue bond or notes to pay claims from 1973.

Supervisor Jon Decker says the town has a deficit of $32,295. It has to make up for 1973, and no legal way to pay the money without the enabling legislation.

Former Supervisor Louis Foscaldi said Tuesday that the town has enough money coming in from both state and federal disaster relief to pay what bills there are, and that if he were still supervisor he would just pay out the current funds and replace that money with the money coming in.

When Foscaldi left office at the end of 1973, he figured a surplus of about $30,000. He termed the difference between his estimates and Decker's "a matter of ledgering."

The town has one fiscal problem both Decker and Foscaldi agree on. After a January audit, after Foscaldi had left office, the town was informed that the papers for about $22,000 in federal aid for Tropical Storm Doria's damage, back in 1971, had not been properly filed.

Both Decker and Foscaldi said they were working together to get the money approved and back on its way to the town.

In addition to the Doria money, Decker said the town owed about $17,000 to town vendors on 1973 vouchers, the Highland Water District owed about $2,500, and the sewer district was owed $10,440 by the water district.

The town made an $8,000 payment for equipment late last year. Decker said an extra $8,000 had been put into the machinery fund for this year by the previous town board, but at the expense of other highway items, and he counts the $8,000 as part of the money the town is short.

Foscaldi said there was actually enough money in the highway fund to make the $8,000 transfer, and that there had been a "gentlemen's agreement" to do so, though the present town board was now resisting the move.

Both Decker and Foscaldi deny there is any personal or political reason behind the budget disagreement. Decker speaks of "philosophical differences" in budget making, and said, "It's really not intended to be a political thing; that's the last thing I want to get involved with."

Foscaldi said, "We're on very good terms. We just have a misunderstanding."

Passage of the enabling legislation by the County Legislature requires a two-thirds vote both of the town board in requesting it, and the County Legislature in passing it.

The county can only pass the enabling legislation if it is shown that the need for it arose through "inadvertence, mistake, or error in accounting methods or otherwise . . ." according to County Law.

Whatever notes or bonds the town is authorized to issue by the county will not be paid from this year's budget, Decker said. He said that would be "absolutely impossible." He said if the town gets the full disaster relief it is seeking for both Doria and the July rains of 1973, a lower amount can be borrowed, and possibly the notes can be paid off in next year's budget.

Oehler Answers Charges

HURLEY William Oehler, who has proposed constructing a mobile home park on Schildknecht Road near Oehler's Mountain Lodge in the Town of Hurley, has written statements made in a recent memorandum to the township's Zoning Board of Appeals at a recent meeting.

Oehler, who was granted a special use permit to build the park, which would include 48 lots, said he feels his concept for the park would be an aid to the area.

Oehler objected to claims made by David Fox, who lives in Schildknecht Road, saying that a well for his park would not affect the wells of surrounding homes in the area and that orderly collection of garbage at the park would be far better than 48 separate people taking garbage to the town site.

"There is only a very remote possibility say one in a million — that a well would affect the water table," Oehler said. Oehler denied that a well presently in existence has affected surrounding wells.

Oehler said his proposed mobile home sites would be about 1/4-acre each, with a street and block system.

Fox objected to the granting of the special use permit in his memorandum, saying that "sewage and water problems could be a total disaster to the area."

At the meeting, Harold Graff, chairman of the Zoning Board of Appeals, pointed out that the Hurley Planning Board will also have to approve the project before it can be built, and said, "if there are problems, they will investigate."

Bipartisan Spirit Prevails in Impeachment Inquiry

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House handling of the impeachment inquiry disputes meeting began. They were Clair's offer, the Republicans might alter the nature of the House Judiciary Committee re-quest for tape recordings of 42 presidential conversations. Both unifying influences were at work last Thursday when the committee voted 33-3 to subpoena the tapes after waiting in vain since Feb. 25 for the White House to deliver them. Although angry enough to support a subpoena vote, most Republican members favored one calling for only partial delivery of the 42 tapes when the meeting began. They were thrown into confusion when White House lawyer James St. Clair's offer, the Republicans might alter the nature of the impeachment process. He sees it as an investigation to determine whether grounds exist for impeachment, not as a trial to determine proof of those grounds. With that attitude, he has opposed the idea put forward by the White House and the committee Republicans that St. Clair should have a right to appointment among many of them in Albert Jenner, chief want St. Clair to do the job.

AP Analysis

National Health Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Speaker Carl Albert observed the start of Congress' Easter break by issuing a statement of accomplishments and plans with national health insurance placed first on the list.

The statement was compiled after a joint meeting of the House and Senate Democratic leadership. It added to other indications that the congressional chiefs are trimming their overgrown agenda and aiming at enactment of a choice package of voter-appealing measures.

With impeachment matters likely to pre-empt much of its time between now and the November election, Congress is beginning to feel squeezed. One of the items that could fall to the cutting-room floor is across-the-board tax reform. Only last year a concerted drive to close loopholes was being trumpeted by many as Congress' prime concern and assurances were given that the House Ways and Means Committee, which made a start early in 1973, would turn to it again early this year.

General tax reform does not even appear on Albert's list. The Ways and Means Committee set tax reform aside last year at President Nixon's request to take up his foreign trade bill.

Ways and Means — the tax, trade and Social Security committee — did not go back promptly to the loophole-closing job. It sent a Social Security benefit increase on to enactment and then worked out a massive pension reform bill, which is now in conference for reconciliation with a Senate-passed measure.

Next the tax writers took up a limited tax bill with high topical appeal — a levy on crisis-swollen windfall profits of oil companies.

Weird Sphere Moves. Makes Dogs Whimper

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Navy experts are puzzled by a weird metal sphere about the size of a bowling ball that rolls around a table by itself without falling off and makes dogs whimper.

Mrs. Jerri Betz, whose husband and son found the shiny 25-pound ball in some grass last week, said she planned to air freight it to Northwestern University for examination by astronomer J. Allen Hynek, one of the country's leading experts on unidentified flying objects (UFOs).

Mrs. Betz said that when the sphere was placed on a table, it rolled to the edge of its own power, and then rolled around the four sides in a series of increasingly smaller rectangles until it stopped in the center of the table, on the spot from which it had begun to roll.

A U.S. Navy examination of the sphere showed it was made of high grade steel, and X-rays indicated there were three or four smaller spheres inside. The Navy said it could not determine what made the ball behave as it did without cutting into it. Mrs. Betz, however, wants other scientists to examine it intact.

When the family dog, a toy poodle, was placed near the sphere, Mrs. Betz said, "she began to whimper and cover her ears with her paws, something I've never seen her do before. It was a similar reaction to what dogs do when they hear a high pitched dog whistle."

"If you pick it up, hold it over your head and shake it vigorously, and then put it down, it has a motion inside. It almost feels like its trying to get away from you. It actually feels like a huge Mexican jumping bean."

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, APRIL 17, 1974

EDITOR'S NOTE: This column was written prior to Monday's events in San Francisco. However, much of the material it contains is still relevant to the Patricia Hearst situation.

By JACK ANDERSON
WASHINGTON — A marked man, who inadvertently helped found the Symbionese Liberation Army but is now on its death list, believes the kidnapped Patricia Hearst is still alive but is being held outside the U.S.

This is the opinion of Colston Westbrook, a black linguistics instructor who knows the SLA members and how they think. He became acquainted with them during visits to California's Vacaville prison, where he coordinated the activities of the Black Cultural Association, the forerunner of the SLA. The SLA has now issued a death contract on Westbrook, calling for him to be shot on sight. My reporter Ed Tropeand arranged to meet him behind the locked doors of a motel room. Westbrook discounts Patty Hearst's statement that she has joined the SLA. The language she used, he said, sounds like his former friend. "It was too much like the way they talk for me to believe she said it out of her own free will, he told us, adding: "They like to do the unexpected just to mix people up. Besides, Patty Hearst isn't the type of person they're looking for to join." Westbrook believes Patty is too useful to the SLA to be killed. He's "sure" she is alive, probably at a hideout in a foreign country. FBI agents have been on the heels of the kidnapers and probably have scared them across the border. It was Westbrook who brought Donald DeFreeze into the Black Cultural Association at Vacaville prison. Westbrook wanted to break the influence of white radicals on the black society and thought the strong-willed, white-hating DeFreeze could do it. The group evolved into the Symbionese Liberation Army, with DeFreeze as its purported leader. He now calls himself "General Field Marshal Cinque."

But Westbrook claims he has learned from his contacts that DeFreeze, an escaped convict, is merely a figurehead and that the SLA is still run by the white radicals.

Westbrook says there has been racial dissension, however, within the SLA. "It's the same old thing," he said. "These people claim they're working for the good of the black community when really all they care about is their own ego."

FOOTNOTE: As evidence of his close former ties with the SLA, Westbrook showed my reporter considerable documentation including his own detailed diary.

MILK MONEY: The Watergate prosecutors are secretly bargaining for a guilty plea from the president of a $100 million-a-year milk cooperative, which unwittingly supplied "hush money" for the Watergate conspirators.

The official is Richard Allison, who began as a candy clerk, worked his way through night school and is now the $55,000-a-year president of the Lehigh Valley Cooperative Farmers of Allentown, Pa.

Proud of his accomplishments in building the coop into a major American milk power, Allison wanted President Nixon as his speaker for the group's 1972 conference. Lehigh's Washington lobbyist, Frank Carroll, was called on to help with the arrangements, say sources close to the case.

Carroll could not land Nixon but settled for Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz. Thereafter, Lehigh coughed up a $50,000 contribution.

The donation, which is illegal under federal law because corporate gifts are outlawed, was clandestinely passed to the President's campaign committee in two $25,000 bundles, one of them in a car, say our sources.

J. Curtis Herge, a medium-level campaign official who accepted the cash for the committee, claims he was acting under orders from former Attorney General John Mitchell, and Mitchell's chief sidekick at the time, Jeb Magruder.

The $50,000 reportedly wound up in the slush fund from which "hush money" was drawn to buy the silence of the original Watergate conspirators. This, of course, set the prosecutors on Lehigh.

Carroll, who reportedly transmitted the money to Nixon headquarters, could not be reached. Through his lawyer, he declined to comment. Herge refused to return our repeated phone calls. Allison's lawyers conceded only that the plea bargaining was going on.

ALUMINUM HAZARDS: The moguls of aluminum have met secretly in their shiny New York headquarters to try to counter federal hearings this week on deaths and home-burnings caused by aluminum wiring.

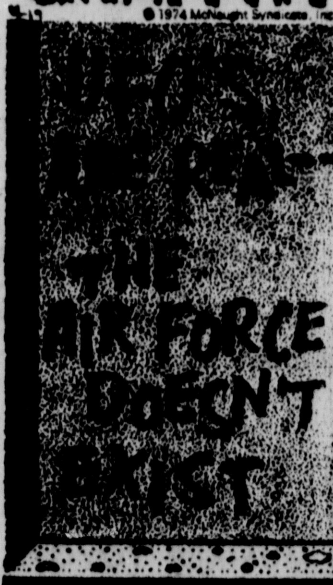

At the meeting, officials from Kaiser, Reynolds, Southwire, Alcoa and others agreed that a "motherhood" package concealing the dangers of aluminum wiring was the best way to deal with the hearings of the Consumer Product Safety Commission in Los Angeles.

From inside sources, we have also learned that "the industry is frightened to death" that studies showing 400 recent fires from the wiring will lead to reinspection of all aluminum-wired homes. At least two million homes, each with dozens of fire hazards, have been built.

The tin gods of aluminum privately decided at their meeting not to do their own survey, for fear it would prove how dangerous aluminum wiring actually is. Instead, they decided to discredit surveys now being done by others.

The aluminum industry, it was also agreed, would try to line up politicians, willing safety inspectors and even utility companies to back the dangerous-aluminum wiring.

Most Important Right

A 75-page section of the Congressional Record of April 2 is given over to an extraordinary discussion of the right of privacy. This was done under a special order of business during which the House of Representatives turned its full attention to the subject. It is a pity that the record of this occasion, when member after member arose to speak on various aspects of the matter, is not available to a far larger body of Americans than those few privileged to receive the daily report on congressional proceedings.

There was much repetition in what was said; certain basic themes were sounded again and again. Yet the cumulative effect was to underscore the depth of concern about rising invasions of privacy as electronic technology advances. It is a point emphasized also by the number of bills and resolutions on the subject now in the House—more than 100 at last count, with many similar proposals also before the Senate.

One of the most striking and heartening things about the discussion was that those who spoke represented a partisan and ideological cross-section of the House. This can be readily illustrated by citing a couple of examples. One of those who arranged for the special order was the conservative Republican from California, Rep. Barry M. Goldwater Jr. At one point in the discussion he was approvingly quoted by one of the most controversially outspoken liberals in the House, the Democratic Rep. Bella S. Abzug of New York.

Congresswoman Abzug's citation of Goldwater is worth repeating here, both to show the common interest of these two widely divergent members in the subject at hand, and because of the substance of what was quoted. Representative Abzug noted that a privacy bill introduced by Goldwater contains "this ringing sentence which I have used in my own bill: 'There must be no personal data record-keeping system whose very existence is secret and there must be a way for an individual to find out what information about him is in a record and how it is used.'" This is indeed a ringing sentence which touches upon one of the most troubling aspects of the data bank phenomenon.

A famous Supreme Court justice—Brandeis, if recollection serves—once described privacy as the most important of our rights. The special order of business in the House of Representatives focused on threats to this right: it dealt with invasions of individual privacy by government, and also by non-governmental interests. The American public has an enormous stake in this. It should demand effective legislation as the fruit of that historic discussion.

Gloomy Picture

Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has painted a gloomy picture of three major issues facing the world.

Kissinger has told members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee of his concern over the current state of Middle East negotiations, Western European-American relations and the nuclear arms talks with the Soviet Union.

Kissinger told members of the committee that the Israel-Syrian disengagement negotiations cannot be expected to make much progress in the near future because of the governmental crisis in Israel.

He said that Washington's relations with its European allies continue to be delicate and difficult. Kissinger did express some hope that a new French President could at least end the current bitterness.

The secretary of state said that the current Soviet position on the nuclear arms issue is unacceptable. Reports after the meeting indicated that Kissinger was finding it hard to ward off pressures from the Pentagon, the White House and Democratic Sen. Henry Jackson for any compromise with the Russians in the arms field.

Some congressmen say that Senator Jackson and some administration officials are not giving the secretary of state any leeway by arguing for exact equality in nearly every category of nuclear arms.

It is necessary to the peace of the world that agreement be reached in the nuclear arms field. Some committee members argue that although over-all equality should be strived for, the nuclear arsenals of Russia and the United States are sufficiently different in nature that reductions in many respects cannot be made on a one-to-one basis.

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The most ominous aspect of the historic events that sent a congressional subpoena to the White House last week was the surprise genuinely felt by President Nixon and his lieutenants over Republican outrage within the House Judiciary Committee.

What makes it ominous is that Nixon lawyer James St. Clair's insulting letter was dispatched to the committee despite warnings from the most important Republicans on Capitol Hill — a clear signal which the White House failed to understand. All evidence indicates the White House was not trying to provoke a subpoena and certainly wanted no open break with its Republican allies. Thus, nearing the climax of his presidential crisis, Mr. Nixon is lethally miscalculating the mood of congressional Republicans.

The Nixon-St. Clair strategy, aimed at denying the Judiciary Committee key evidence it demanded while retaining Republican support, collapsed disastrously because of that miscalculation. Not only did nearly all Republican committee members vote for the subpoena but serious new doubts were planted with congressional Republicans serving as the President's jurors.

In that sense, Mr. Nixon is paying dearly for keeping key White House tape recordings from Congress. House members suspect more than ever that he has much to hide. "I really haven't gotten into the details of Watergate," says one senior Republican Congressman, never publicly critical of Mr. Nixon. "But the President is whittling away at the presumption of his innocence."

The White House desire to prevent such conclusions is obvious from activities of newly arrived presidential counselor Dean Burch, now Mr. Nixon's chief Watergate emissary to the Republicans, on April 9 — the deadline set by the House Judiciary Committee for a White House reply to its demands for evidence. Burch worked hard that day to secure Mr. Nixon's Republican flank in advance of his refusal to supply all the evidence requested.

Early that afternoon, Burch telephoned Rep. John Rhodes of Arizona, House minority leader, in Phoenix and read him a draft of St. Clair's letter. Rhodes had no time for a long discussion but thought he made this clear: the letter as written would cause trouble. So, Rhodes suggested, why not propose that St. Clair and John Doar, the committee's impeachment counsel, determine jointly the relevance of material requested by Doar?

But a few hours later when Burch went to Capitol Hill to meet Senate Republican leaders (at his request), he carried with him essentially the same draft letter he had read to Rhodes. Certainly, it did not incorporate Rhodes's conciliatory suggestion.

Not surprisingly, the Senate Republican leaders liked it not at all, and Burch hurried back downtown to the White House to report their complaints. New draft was then read over the telephone to the Senate leaders. General verdict: better but not good enough. So staunch a Nixonite as Sen. John Tower of Texas felt the White House had ignored "our input."

Nevertheless, that second draft was the one sent the committee anyway. For one reason, it was now early evening of the April 9 deadline. But more important, the White House was trapped in another massive failure of communications so endemic in President Nixon's relations with Congress.

Based on his conversation with Burch, Rhodes was actually believed at the White House to have fully approved the letter. Even more incompressible, Senate Republican leaders were reported in accord with the revised version. Thus, on the evening of April 9, the White House believed Republican Judiciary Committee members would oppose a subpoena and that the Democratic majority consequently would not seek a vote. That meant the President had successfully withheld information from the committee without losing support.

Therefore, Mr. Nixon was

Drug Addict's Vicious Circle

Two stories of interest did not make the front pages. The first is that the U.S. Public Health Service is closing down its drug addiction center at Lexington, Kentucky. This is partly because methadone clinics are open in hundreds of cities.

The second is that New York's Acting Chief Medical Examiner, Dr. Dominick J. DiMaio, reported 50 deaths from methadone and 49 from heroin. If the relationship puzzles you, think of it this way: Dr. Robert G. Newsman, head of New York's methadone programs, says that the figures prove that methadone is helping to combat drug addiction.

Feel dizzy? Wait. New Jersey reported 76 deaths from methadone last year; 30 from heroin. If the goal is to kill the addict legally, as opposed to forcing him to buy illegal stuff, such clinics are highly successful.

The facility at Lexington is older than you. It had a cure rate for the last 30 years of about zero. Federal spotters followed "cured" addicts back to Chicago, Cleveland, New York, Philadelphia and were stunned to report that the "clean" patient hunted a dealer the first night at home and bought a deck of cards.

Hundreds of millions of your tax dollars and mine went to Lexington. Somehow, we could not comprehend that the addicts were using us; we were not curing them. When the junkie reached, let us say, six fixes a day, his habit became too expensive and he turned himself into the law.

The judge called him a good boy and sent him off to Lexington with the solemn blessing of the court. At the U.S. Public Health facility, he bled double with cramps, sweats and horrifying delusions until the chain of addiction was momentarily broken. When he returned home, he found that one shot would do the work of six.

That was long ago. Today, most cities have a half-dozen or more rehabilitation centers. Addicts bounce from one to another to win approval of relatives and judges. Some — not all, of course — are human ping-pong balls who seldom clear the net.

A Hollywood star spent a fortune on a handsome son. The last time she saw him was in a sleazy hotel in Mexico. He was unconscious on a bathroom floor, lying next to a shattered syringe. She took a deep breath, and left. She counts him dead.

At age 31, a prostitute is over the hill. In Hawaii, I sat with a blonde and her pusher husband. "We're clean," she said. "Both on methadone." "That's nice," I said. "You do any chipping?" She shrugged and laughed. "If we can steal methadone, we sell it for a little heroin. Like weekends."

A year ago a rich man from Indiana begged me to get his son into The Seed program in Fort Lauderdale, Florida. I phoned Art Barker, who devised the highly successful program consisting of disciplines and 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. discussions among young addicts.

Barker said, "Sure." The kid had been on heroin three years. Thousands of kids emerge from Barker's program knowing more than doctors about narcotics and how they wreck the nervous system and sabotage the mind. The Indiana boy has been "clean" a year.

He was sent home last week. Dad is an alcoholic. Most Seed kids start by hating Barker and his gigantic youth center. They close their ears to the counsel of ex-drug addicts. Sooner or later, they listen. They learn. Eventually, they hold a cracked mirror up to their faces and see themselves as they really are.

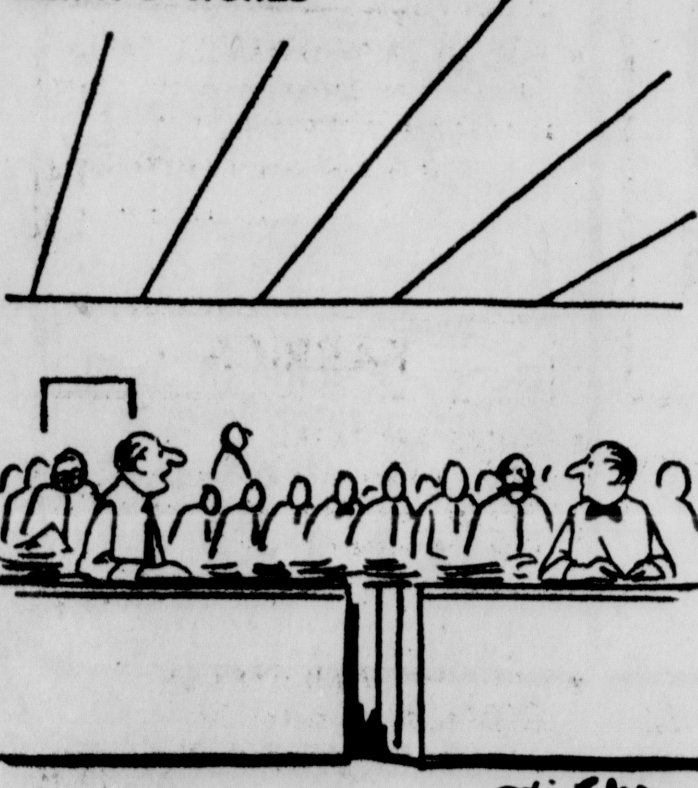

This is not to say that some do not relapse. When they do, most of them return to The Seed to start the course of drug education over again. To me, these are the bravest of the brave.

Chairman Mao Tse-tung of China found a lot of opium smokers when he assumed power. He cured addicts by having them beheaded in public squares. Mao permits his hill farmers to grow poppies and sell the opium derivative for export to the U.S. South America exports cocaine.

Jamaica sends tons of marijuana in small planes. They fly to hidden fields in Florida at night. If they can't find the field, they crash and burn. Downwind, a whole town gets high on the wafted smoke.

It is time for the President to appoint a committee of experts to re-examine the methadone program. Some young people are reporting in as addicts who were not on narcotics. Methadone is addictive. According to Dr. DiMaio, youngsters who thought they were being cured are replying in morgues with dog tags on their toes . . .

Fish Sponsors Powder Bill

WASHINGTON, D.C. Fourth of July celebrations. However, because the federal restrictions are so severe many gun dealers no longer carry black powder, and other dealers are forced to charge high prices because of expensive handling procedures. Therefore, for the past few years sportsmen in need of black powder have had a difficult time in obtaining it.

"Unfortunately under present federal law, extensive regulations and restrictions are imposed on the handling and storage of black powder. These restrictions were imposed in 1970 to prevent criminals from easily obtaining black powder for use in explosive devices," Fish said.

Instead, the bill would remove the restrictions on the black powder shooting sportsmen and place where it should be, "on the criminal bomber," Fish said. The bill would permit the honest citizen to obtain this high grade propellant without unnecessary difficulty and would in turn provide inducement to manufacturers to renew domestic production of sporting grades of black powder, thereby reducing the now inflated price, Fish said.

The congressman explained that with the 1976 Bicentennial celebration of the birth of our nation fast approaching, an important issue has arisen in Washington concerning the use by sportsmen and civic groups of antique firearms, replicas of antique rifles and cannons. "The use of these weapons is an important part of the sporting, cultural and recreational life of the country. Muzzle-loading rifles, Civil War weapons, and other antique firearms are used at meets in which sportsmen compete in firing contests. A variety of civic groups, including Boy Scouts and veterans organizations use antique weapons and muzzle-loading cannons in formal ceremonies such as flag-raising, and centennial and

★ ★ ★ Inspection for Foreign Products

WASHINGTON, D.C. do the same for dairy products. In an effort to ensure that imported dairy products meet the high standards of purity and quality of American dairy products, Congressman Hamilton Fish, Jr. has introduced legislation to require foreign producers to observe United States health and sanitation regulations. "We imported 3.6 billion pounds of dairy products last year," Fish said, "but only 13.2 per cent was inspected upon entry. The only way to ensure the quality of these products is to enforce high sanitation standards on the farm," he said. "We already require that foreign meat producers ensure that only the highest quality dairy products reach our consumers."

Court Favors Kent State Families

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The prohibit in all cases a ground forces being sent into Supreme Court ruled today defendant seeking damages on Cambodia. A federal grand jury in Cleveland on March 29 indicted eight former National Guardsmen on charges of violating the civil rights of those killed or wounded.

The guardsmen, all enlisted men, were charged with "willfully assaulting and intimidating demonstrators . . . by firing in their direction and violating the constitutional rights not to be deprived of liberty without due process of law."

Families of three of the dead students filed the two suits. They told the Supreme Court that a ruling against them in the highest court in the land would remove their last opportunity for redress.

Burger said the district court acted prematurely and was thus in error in dismissing the complaints without giving the families a chance to establish their claims.

The suits invoked a law more than 100 years old—the Civil Rights Act of 1871—that provides for legal action against anyone who by virtue of state law deprives another person of rights secured by the Constitution.

The suits claimed then Ohio Gov. James Rhodes permitted the guardsmen to carry loaded guns and to shoot at persons without justification. Similar allegations were made against National Guard officials. Kent State President Robert White was charged with reckless failure to act.

OBJECT OF MANHUNT — A bench warrant has been issued for former Yippee leader Abbie Hoffman when he failed for the third time in 32 days to appear for a pre-trial hearing in his Manhattan Supreme Court narcotics trial. Officials said a nationwide manhunt has been launched to find the former radical leader and member of the "Chicago seven." (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Frank McGee Dead at 52, Was Host of Today Show

NEW YORK (UPI) — Frank W. McGee, host of the National Broadcasting Co.'s "Today" television show, died of pneumonia this morning, the network said. He was 52.

He had been failing health for many months, the network said, and last appeared on the air Thursday, entering Columbia Presbyterian Hospital the next day.

A native of Louisiana, McGee joined NBC in 1957 and soon became the network's No. 1 space reporter. He conducted NBC's "11th Hour News" and "The Frank McGee Report" before succeeding Hugh Downs on "Today," an early morning program. In 1971, he also was the author of a book of short stories, "They Don't Make Depressions Like That Any More."

He is survived by his wife, Nealta, and two children.

'Zebra' Bullets Claim 12th Victim

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A young man was shot to death Tuesday night, the 12th white person killed in a series of so-called "Zebra" shootings that began last November, police said.

The latest victim was an unidentified 26-year-old man who was helping a friend move a rug in the Ingleside District when he was felled by bullets.

Police said three shots rang out about 9:30 p.m., and a witness saw a black man running down the street.

Tuesday's victim was making room for the rug in the back of a station wagon when the assailant came up behind him and fired, police said.

On Sunday, two white teenagers were shot and wounded at a bus stop.

Police have mounted a massive hunt for at least two persons in the Zebra shootings. In each case the victim has been white and the assailant black.

Roman Adler Dies, Was Art Leader

KERHONKSON Roman Adler, a long-time summer resident of Kerhonkson died Thursday, April 11 in New York City after a long illness.

He was well-known in the Ellenville area for founding the Rondout Valley Art Guild which brought a new dimension of art appreciation to the area during its yearly exhibits.

As an artist and sculptor Adler gained distinction with his metallic sculpture, of the Madonna Ostrobramska which was displayed in the Vatican Palace during the New York World's Fair. A replica of the Madonna Ostrobramska was donated to Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Kerhonkson, in memory of his wife, Anna Kulerska.

Born in Warsaw, Poland, Adler was a Fellow of the Polish Institutes of Arts and Sciences and was a member of the Sculptor's Guild. He is survived by a sister, Olga of Warsaw, Poland.

A memorial Mass was held in St. Stanislaus Church of New York and burial was in Pine Bush Cemetery, Kerhonkson. A local memorial Mass was offered in Our Lady of Lourdes Church with the Rev. Joseph Hamilton officiating.

ICE SKATING WITHOUT ICE! SKeeLeRS

THE REVOLUTIONARY NEW 3 WHEELED SKATE THAT DUPLICATES ALL THE FUN OF ICE SKATING

FACTS ON SKeeLeRS

1. What are Skeelers?

Skeelers are like ice-skates but they have three wheels instead of a blade. Through a unique action, Skeelers are as maneuverable as ice-skates.

2. Where can I use Skeelers?

Any hard, flat surface that is not highly polished is great for Skeeling. Park playgrounds and school yards are ideal. Like other action sports, Skeeling demands that common sense safety rules be obeyed. This means staying off roads, busy sidewalks, sloping surfaces, etc. A good way to help ensure that Skeeling in your neighborhood is practiced under safe conditions would be to organize a Skeeling league with adult supervision.

3. Will Skeeling improve my ice-skating ability?

The skills required for Skeeling are almost identical to those required for ice-skating. Therefore, any personal improvement in one of the two sports will influence your proficiency in the other.

4. Who can use Skeelers?

Anyone who likes the fun and exhilaration of ice-skating will enjoy Skeeling. This includes adults, as Skeelers are designed to perform safely and satisfactorily for anyone, regardless of size.

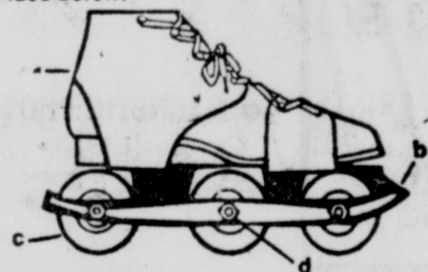

5. Are Skeelers guaranteed?

Skeelers are unconditionally guaranteed against any material defect or breakdown as a result of normal use for 3 months. Additionally, spare wheels are available.

6. What are Skeelers made of?

All the materials used to manufacture Skeelers are strong and durable to ensure safe and satisfactory use for a long time. The specific materials are itemized below.

a) Harness: The harness is made of high quality Neoprene. Alpine ski-boot hooks prevent the laces from slipping.

b) Frame: The high grade, precision moulded, nylon frame has been stress tested for up to 350 lbs.

c) Wheel Units: The wheels are made of hard wearing, non-skid polyurethane plastic and each has a steel housed, double-caged, ball bearing unit.

d) Wheel Bolts: The bolts are made of high tensile, zinc plated steel. Shake proof washers and self-locking nuts hold the wheels securely in place.

7. What size Skeelers should I order?

The harness on Skeelers is designed to accommodate a wide range of shoe sizes through variations in lacing tightness. Consequently, the two models—Junior and Senior Skeelers—will satisfy almost all potential users. The junior size will fit up to a 5½ boys' shoe size (up to a size 8 for girls). The senior size will fit a 6-11 men's shoe size (ladies 9-up). When ordering Skeelers, please indicate your shoe size and sex, we will ensure that you receive the correct model.

8. How can I obtain a pair of Skeelers?

Skeelers are available in the United States exclusively from the Pepsi-Cola Company by filling out the coupon below—and sending $9.95 for each pair of Skeelers.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market pushed ahead today, extending Tuesday's strong advance.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up a fraction, and gainers led losers by about a 9-5 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

The market's rise came in the face of continued increases in short term interest rates. Brokers said it appeared many investors believed those money rates were close to a peak, and would soon turn downward again.

Prices on the Big Board included Gulf Oil, down 1/4 at 22; Pan American World Airways, up 1/4 at 4 1/2, and Pittston Co., unchanged at 36 1/2.

Tanker Freed in St. Lawrence

ALEXANDRIA BAY, N.Y., miles east of this Thousand Islands resort village. (UPI) — A Canadian tanker which ran aground in the St. Lawrence River, Tuesday was freed after Coast Guard crews limited the size of a crude oil spill from its tanks to a four mile area. Although the St. Lawrence Seaway system is open for the 1974 shipping season, a strike by Canadian pilots kept any ocean-vessel traffic from transiting the area of the grounding, the Coast Guard said. Thus, no traffic was backed up. A Coast Guard spokesman said the spill from the 408-foot Imperial Sarnia was estimated at 1,000 barrels. The vessel was carrying 49,700 imperial barrels of crude when she went aground Monday night on Whaleback Shoal off Oak Point, about 13 miles east of this Thousand Islands resort village. The oil moved downstream to Point Comfort, a distance of four miles, where it apparently halted, the Coast Guard said. Early reports had been that the slick covered a distance of up to 12 miles, but the Coast Guard spokesman said aerial reconnaissance pinpointed the limit. When the vessel grounded, with a hole stove in her starboard bow, three of her 14 tanks ruptured. But, the oil was pumped from the ruptured tanks to another Canadian tanker, the Bay Transport of the Hall Corp. in an effort to free the stricken vessel from the shoal. The Coast Guard spokesman said the operation would be carefully supervised to assure minimum spillage.

In addition, crews began pumping oil from the water into tank trucks. The oil had "pretty much" collected on the U.S. shore and none reached the Canadian side of the river.

No injuries were reported in the grounding. However, the Imperial Sarnia listed slightly to port and was taking on water, the Coast Guard spokesman said. The vessel, owned by the Imperial Oil Co. of Toronto, was downbound from Montreal when she went aground. The Coast Guard said an investigation will be made to determine the cause of the mishap.

The Coast Guard's specially trained Atlantic Task Force was flown in from Elizabeth City, N.J., to handle the emergency clean-up. Strike force members have responded to most major U.S. oil spills in recent years and are experts in pollution control techniques, a spokesman said.

Searchers Find NYC Youth

TOWN OF SHANDAKEN Monday afternoon while hiking a 19-year-old New York City youth who had been missing out. When Ryder came to, he at Slide Mountain since Monday afternoon, was located Tuesday by a search party of state police and forest rangers. Police said the youth, Dean Rider, who was suffering from exposure when found, had slipped down an embankment.

Regular Savings Accounts Are A Prime Example

For personalized savings that yield top interest

Sawyer Savings Bank's regular savings accounts represent a very real advantage for depositors. Planned in a very personal way by their owners, they nevertheless provide uniformly high earnings for money set aside. Daily dollar growth, earning maximum interest allowed savings under state regulations, helps savers reach their goals more quickly. All deposits are federally insured.

As a Regular Savings Account holder, you are allowed to deposit as much—or as little—as you wish, when you wish. There are no limits. (Deposits made by the tenth of the month will, of course, receive interest from the first of that month.) And no special arrangements or interest penalties are required.

Sawyer Savings Bank also has available a selection of Savings Certificates which provide higher yields for long term savings. (In Savings Certificates, a substantial interest penalty is required for early withdrawal.)

Stop in soon to discuss the plan most suitable for you—for highly individualized immediate needs or for long-term future goals. Either way, you'll find more in terms of satisfaction, interest and efficiency when you save with us.

Concern in Tivoli On Dramatic Boosts

TIVOLI village had to repeatedly borrow money because state and federal aid arrived only sporadically. The new sewerage quarterly minimum charge would be $24, as opposed to the $10 minimum now in service. The rates are based on water consumption. Water rates would rise 20 per cent across the board from a $10 quarterly minimum bill to $12. Sewer bills were not even introduced in Tivoli until one year ago, and they were instituted to relate usage of the system to payment. The proposed general fund budget, not yet passed either, would have the rate of taxation per thousand dollars assessment rise slightly from $59.32 to $62. It was also revealed that planning sessions have been taking place between the Town of Red Hook officials and village officials in Red Hook and Tivoli to discuss combining many services that are presently being maintained separately. Red Hook Supervisor Robert Bowman and Justice Albert Trezza met Monday night with Tivoli officials to discuss combination of such services as highway, fire, and finance offices. Any such action would require a public referendum.

Letters to the Editor

Methadone's Value

Editor, The Freeman:
I would like to refer your attention to your editorial of April 5th, 1974, entitled "Evidence of Methadone" which indicates to the non-involved person that "evidence" now shows that methadone is more dangerous than it is helpful in combating heroin addiction. It is not my contention that methadone is the "cure" for our heroin problem. It is my contention, as someone who has been involved in both the education of children and the treatment of their drug problems, that there is no such thing as "A" cure for drug addiction. It is also my contention that methadone maintenance is an excellent example of how we must meet vital social problems by combining the best and the worst of our knowledge, to complete long range goals. For example, it is fairly well known that methadone is the best way of attracting heroin addicts into treatment. It is also a pharmacological fact that methadone is a narcotic drug with addictive qualities. However, combine the two in a properly administered program with appropriate enforcement of laws regarding the handling of any narcotic drug, with psychological and other help for addicted persons, methadone then enables the addict to move towards a drug free existence. In summary, methadone is one valuable alternative to us in the treatment of heroin addiction. There are other kinds of programs such as those operated by ex-addicts. All these attempts are valuable in trying desperately to solve the drug problem. It is my humble opinion that drug abuse is extremely complex and we should consider all workable alternatives until a solution is found.

Sincerely,
RICHARD A. SHERIDAN

Fairness

Editor, The Freeman:
The latest Harris poll shows 31 per cent in support of President Nixon as excellent or good and 64 per cent as fair or poor. From a point of view of fairness, the 64 per cent should be divided between fair and poor. That is 32 per cent each in which case President Nixon would have 31 per cent excellent or good, and 32 per cent fair, making a total of 63 per cent, which is approximately the same as the vote he received in the 1972 election.

It would be much fairer if the Harris poll was taken on the basis of excellent, good, fair, poor or bad, but to lump fair and poor together, is contradictory. Apparently the leftist media and press seek to undermine Nixon's popularity and to completely ignore the very large number that claim the administration is fair.

It is about time that the American public were told the truth and not brainwashed by false propaganda. Today's papers state that Mr. Mitchell and other former government officials, protest being tried by Judge Sirica and have ample reason based on the Judge's record in Watergate controversy, to insist on another judge on the basis of securing a fair trial which is the right of every citizen. But beyond that, why don't these defendants identified with the Nixon Administration, demand a change of venue because it is almost impossible to secure a jury in the District of Columbia that is not anti-Nixon.

The District of Columbia voted 3 1/2 to 1 for McGovern against Nixon in the 1972 presidential campaign, which is a far higher percentage than in any other state or community in the United States. Although New York County (not the city) went 2 to 1 for McGovern, or by 175,000. It is the center and the hotbed of anti-Nixon propaganda in the press, television and radio. And it is doubtful that even in New York County that it would be possible to get an unprejudiced jury involving the Nixon administration.

Alcohol
Editor, The Freeman:
Statistics show there are over nine million alcoholics in the United States. It is the number one drug problem and of late years it has included all ages even the early teens.

Apparently, younger ones are drinking today (compared to a few years ago) to get high or to be smart or to create a false impression they are grown up.

Hard drug addicts have been known to be heavy users of alcohol, most deaths proved high alcoholic blood content upon medical examination.

Many schools of human behavior reveal that modern teenage drinking is caused by its social acceptance as common practice by adults on television and by parental consent.

A sort of guidance is needed to allow our youth to learn about alcohol without prejudice that will enable them to decide for themselves whether they want to use it or not in moderation.

It should be made clear if you drink, do it in moderation and for pleasure, not to show-off or escape reality; revenge against parental authority or an escape from overwhelming problems.

Then the question arises—is social drinking necessary for business success or social entertainment over a cocktail or two?

I do not believe a person should be embarrassed or feel out of order if he refuses to imbibe because the impression he would create is that he has a mind of his own and possessed consistency in his conduct.

I believe that anyone who drinks or not, who has a good mind and a willingness to work hard, will be a business success.

People who drink are not alcoholics, but only when they abuse it and it becomes a habit to escape from something.

Sincerely yours,
EDWIN J. HIGBY

AARP Meeting
The Kingston Colonial Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons will meet on April 18 at the George Washington School cafeteria at 7:30 p.m. The chapter by-laws will be voted upon. All members are urged to be present.

Mrs. Lynne Iankelovich, an insurance consultant from the AARP Insurance Plans office will be the guest speaker. She will explain their different types of insurance and will answer questions from the members.

A humorous recording of a prominent speaker will round out the meeting.

Members will also have the opportunity to sign up for a future trip sponsored by the local chapter.

Olive Planning

Editor, The Freeman:

The public hearing convened by the Town of Olive Planning Board on Tuesday, April 9th, with regard to the proposed subdivision on Turner Road, showed how unconcerned most developers are about the well-being of the community in which they are developing. Voldis Pridans, the out-of-town developer of this proposed subdivision, had failed to comply with several of the basic prerequisites which the town planning code requires prior to a public hearing. His proposed subdivision is in direct violation of Section 425 of the planning code which prohibits dead-end streets longer than 1,200 feet. Under questioning at the public hearing, his representative not only admitted that it was a dead-end street, but acknowledged its length at approximately 3,600 feet. Their attitude was "we'll get the Town Planning Board to give us a waiver."

The developers also failed to comply with Section 310 and 342 of the planning code which require prior preliminary approval of the County Board of Health, the Board of Water Supply and the Department of Environmental Resources prior to a public hearing. The more than 50 people in attendance at this hearing were stunned by the developer's callous and casual attitude towards the Town Planning Code, and the Town Planning Board which has the obligation to enforce it. The challenge now facing the Town Planning Board is to reject this proposed subdivision for what it is — an ill conceived, improperly designed and irregularly submitted plan, which should be considered as nothing more than an affront to the citizens of the town of Olive in general, and the Town Planning Board in particular.

I call on Mr. Arthur Sampson,

Woodstock

Crusade Auction

WOODSTOCK Ke. Osterhoudt, Woodstock Cancer Crusade chairman, has announced that the "Auction to Stop Cancer" is scheduled for 10 a.m. on Saturday, April 27 at the Bradley Meadows Shopping Center between the A&P and Rondout National Bank. Osterhoudt is happy to announce that the Chamber- Merchants will again this year back the Auction.

Osterhoudt further stated that last year he made the Cancer Crusade in Woodstock happen in a more Woodstock way. "We did not organize people to solicit funds door to door, but asked the merchants and townspeople to donate something for the auction." The businesses came through with fantastic support and he looks forward to even greater support this year.

Anyone with items for the auction may bring them to the Rondout National Bank in Woodstock any time between now and April 26.

Osterhoudt, in making an appeal to area residents stated: "hopefully through my appeal and lots of help, we have been successful in meeting our goal ($2,000) without organizing committees and door knockers, but we should all share in this project — our efforts from Woodstock to stamp out cancer. I should like to ask every family to put just $1 in an envelope, addressed to American Cancer Fund — Woodstock Drive, and mail it to Rondout National Bank. If you don't have the postage, just put it in the mail. I, personally, will pick up the postage due for your support. If you are going past Rondout National Bank's Office, you may drop it in our night drop or hand it to any of our personnel."

Logo Results

Recently the Woodstock PTA sponsored a contest for all Woodstock Elementary School students to design a logo to be used on a school T shirt. The children were most enthusiastic, and the response was overwhelming. First prize was awarded jointly to Natasha Barychy from Mrs. Lane's second grade class and to Vicente Brandstein from Mrs. Washington's sixth grade. Their two designs will be incorporated into one and will be printed in red on the white shirts. Eleven other students received Honorable Mention: Lisa Spinelli — 5B, Amy Brannon — 5B, Dennis Bar- zette — 2L, Linda Gagan — 5B, Linda Kerr — 4C, Tami Eichorn — 5B, Megan Cash — 4V, Richard St. Atton — 5B, Richard Becker — 3S, Jenny Rothman — KM, and Lindsey McPhis — 1S. The Woodstock School shirts will go on sale within a few weeks.

Dutchess Lens Program Set

RED HOOK

Creativity in Photography will be the address by photographer Gen Vartanian before the Northern Dutchess Camera Club April 19.

Vartanian was a winner in the 1971 Life Photo Contest, where 32 winners were selected out of one million pictures. His program demonstrates and explains composition, lighting, and subject matter and is built around slides he has entered in competitions.

He is a five-star exhibitor in color slides in the Photographic Society of America, the highest rating and he is on the teaching staff of Cosmopolitan Chapter of Color Camera Club of New York and at the New England Camera Council Sessions.

Vartanian will also judge assigned competitions in the club on the subject Rain or Fog. Anyone interested in photography is invited to attend the sessions at 8 p.m. at the United Methodist Church, Red Hook.

Benson to Talk

Former tugboat Captain William O. Benson of Port Ewen will tell stories of his days on the Hudson River to the Town of Olive Historical Society April 20.

The evening of history will begin at 8 p.m. in the Olivebridge Fire Hall. The public is invited.

Captain Benson first worked as a deck hand on the Hudson River Day Line, later working as tugboat captain for the Cornell Steamboat Company and the Callanan Company.

He is retired as captain, contributing to Tempo magazine as a writer and employing his skills as an artist and craftsman making replicas of Hudson River ships.

By United Press International
The Arab press said today the Soviet Union was prepared to intervene directly to halt Israeli military activity on the Syrian front, where an all-night battle raged for control of the strategic Mount Hermon and Syrian front a part of the spread to the surrounding area. Jewish state's expansionist The warning, reported in the influential Beirut newspaper Al Anwar, followed the return of go as far as to interfere Syrian President Hafez Assad directly to deter Israel, the to Damascus Tuesday from a newspaper quoted the sources five-day official visit to the as saying.

Soviet Union and talks with Kremlin leaders. Al Anwar, quoting diplomatic sources, said the Soviets considered Israel's current operations on the day of fighting on the heights. Hermon, the 37th consecutive day of fighting on the heights. Israel reported one of its soldiers wounded and its forces fought off a Syrian helicopter and a patrol, a military source said. One Israeli soldier was reported killed Tuesday. A military communiqué broadcast by Damascus radio Egyptian President Anwar Sadat insisted on Israel giving up "every inch" of occupied Arab lands under an overall Middle East peace plan. Syrian President Hafez Assad said any agreement to separate the opposing armies along the tense Golan Heights must be "a step on the road to a radical and universal general settlement."

In Tel Aviv, Israeli sources said Syria has rejected a Sinai-style U.N. buffer zone on the Golan Heights, complicating negotiations for troop disengagement with Israel. The semi-official Cairo newspaper Al Ahran quoted Sadat as saying the Egyptian leader told Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger of the Arabs' tough negotiating demands.

Saigon Action Strands 200 Reds

SAIGON (UPI) — The South Vietnamese government barred all helicopter flights for Viet Cong negotiators today, stranding some 200 Communist officers at a small compound in Saigon.

The move, latest in a series of government restrictions on Viet Cong negotiators, came in apparent retaliation for an upsurge of Communist attacks during the past two months.

The government negotiating team at military truce talks said South Vietnam announced an end to the two weekly flights between Saigon and Viet Cong headquarters at Loc Ninh, 75 miles to the north.

"Our government decided today to cut all liaison flights for the Viet Cong," a spokesman for Brig. Gen. Phan Hoa Hiep, chief government negotiator, said.

A spokesman for the Viet Cong's Provisional Revolutionary Government warned, however, "The Saigon delegation must bear entire responsibility for all consequences arising from these schemes and acts of sabotage."

About 200 Viet Cong officers and enlisted men were at Camp Davis, a small, former U.S. compound at Saigon's Tan Son

Nhut air base. The Communists Monday and Thursday flights were restricted to the com- as part of an 11-point pound, only permitted to leave "privileges and immunities" plan for Communist negotia- tors.

A large number of radio antennas at Camp Davis, however, indicated the Viet Cong could maintain contact with their headquarters without helicopter flights.

Chicago Police Shakeup

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Chicago Police Department Tuesday underwent what was believed to be the biggest shakeup in the city's history as new Police Supt. James M. Rochford changed the jobs of 68 top officers.

Rochford, who had promised to overhaul the scandal-ridden department when he was appointed to the post Feb. 11, named Capt. Michael A. Spiotto second in command.

Spiotto's appointment as first deputy superintendent apparently was intended to upgrade the image of the department, carrying to the post one of the strongest and cleanest records on the force.

Rochford's changes resulted in the promotion of 27 persons, the demotion of 12 and a lateral shift of 29. He transferred 19 of 21 district commanders.

A few of Rochford's moves reflected the results of poly-graph tests he gave to all top-echelon commanders when he first took over the department. The lie detector tests were administered in an effort to find out if top officials had any knowledge or involvement in corruption, and Rochford revealed at the time that seven men failed the tests.

When Rochford ordered his officers to take the tests, he also demanded they submit undated resignations with the understanding the resignations would be accepted if they were found corrupt.

Rochford said Tuesday the lie detector tests gave no clear indication of illegal activity by any policeman, and he has not yet accepted any of the resignations.

Tuesday's promotions, demotions and transfers were his decisions alone, Rochford said. Mayor Richard J. Daley, who appointed Rochford to his post, confirmed at a City Hall news conference that he was not consulted about the changes, including the demotion of the police commander in the Deering District where Daley lives.

The major demotion came when Rochford moved Capt. James J. Riordan from his post as chief of patrol to deputy chief of traffic.

Rochford also named Lt. Marilyn O'Regan deputy chief of traffic administration, making her the highest ranking policewoman.

Rochford's shakeup of the department follows a series of scandals which led to the convictions of scores of police- men, including two former district commanders, on charges of extorting tavern owners.

Marriage Vows Are Exchanged

The Rev. Olney Cook of 161 Smith Avenue, Kingston, officiated at the wedding ceremony of Darlene Elizabeth Mick of 92 Abruyn Street, Kingston, and Brian Richard Martin of Zena Road, West Hurley, on Saturday, April 6 in Ponckhockie Union Congregational Church.

Charles Brand, organist, accompanied James Nerone, Miss Helen Dinizik and Ronald Smith, who sang traditional wedding selections.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Mick of 62 Abruyn Street, Kingston, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Martin of Zena Road, West Hurley.

Roy Mick gave his daughter in marriage. She selected a traditional white gown of polyester organza which featured the empire line. The bodice had a transparent yoke effect with cotton Venise lace accenting the neckline, the yoke and capped sleeves. Wide scalloped lace edged the detachable chapel length train and a Juliet cap of lace and aurora crystals held her two tiered short veil and long mantilla. Mrs. Martin carried a Bible covered with stephanotis and violets.

Honor attendant was Mrs. Robert (Dolores) Styles of 16 Frederick Drive, Lake Katrine. Attendants were Mrs. Charles (Donna) Lawrence, 19 Frederick Drive, Lake Katrine; Miss Margaret Baker, and Mrs. Charles (Helen) Robb, both of West Brattleboro, Vt. Junior bridesmaids were the Misses Barbara Mick, 82 Abruyn Street, Kingston; and Robin Styles, 16 Frederick Drive, Lake Katrine. Melissa Lawrence, 19 Frederick Drive, Lake Katrine, was flower girl.

The attendants wore purple rose print gowns over white linings. Ruffles encircled the necklines and hems and velvet ribbons accented the waistlines. They wore violet headpieces and carried colonial bouquets of violets. The honor attendants carried a colonial bouquet of violets, centered with three pink rosebuds.

Wayne Martin of Zena Road, West Hurley, was best man. Ushering were Roy C. Mick, George Mick, both of 82 Abruyn Street; and Joseph Nerone, Conifer Lane, Hurley. Junior ushers were Kirk Martin, Zena Road, West

Hurley; and Robert Styles Jr., 16 Frederick Drive, Lake Katrine.

A reception was given at The Hedges, West Park.

The bride attended school in Vermont and is employed by New York Telephone Company as a business office representative.

Her husband, a graduate of Ulster County Community College, received a BS degree in Accounting from State University of New York at Albany. He is employed by State of New York Office of General Services.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin will make their home in Lake Katrine.

Bank Women Meeting Tonight

Mrs. Madeline McWhinney, president of the First Women's Bank & Trust Company, a newly organized bank in New York City, will be guest speaker at the April Meeting of the Hudson Valley Group of the National Association of Bank Women, Inc. Adair E. Crepet, Assistant Secretary of the Kingston Trust Company, will chair meeting at the Dutch Rathskeller, Main Street and Clinton Avenue, Kingston, tonight at 6 o'clock. Dinner will be served at 8.

Mrs. McWhinney was an assistant vice president of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, and is widely known in bank circles. She will discuss progress and opportunities for women in the banking field.

The NABW is an organization founded more than 50 years ago and the membership is made up of women bank officers. The basic objectives of this group is to educate the members to better performance and to advancement, in the banking industry, to make contributions to the banking industry and to encourage banking as a career.

Three Junior Leagues Combine For May Training Conference

The Junior Leagues of Kingston, Poughkeepsie and Orange County will hold a joint training conference on "Trends in Volunteerism" Monday, May 6, at the Poughkeepsie Tennis Club.

Principal speakers will include: Joan L. Mansfield, Director at Large, Association of Junior Leagues, Inc.; Winifred L. Brown, Administrative Director of the Voluntary Action Committee of the City of New York; Kay Cambone, Director of the Multi-County Community Development Corporation serving Dutchess, Orange, Rockland, Sullivan and Ulster Counties; and Phyllis Craft Crawford, Educational Liaison for the State University at New Paltz.

Mrs. Mansfield will review the main points stressed in a comprehensive study on Current Trends Affecting Volunteerism prepared by the Association of Junior Leagues' Board of Directors from data gathered throughout the United States and Canada. These trends include: The Role of Women and their Changing Lifestyles, The New Type of Volunteer, New Agency Cooperation like the National Center for Voluntary Action, and Legislation and New Government Programs.

Brown will present a variety of roles volunteers can and should play in the community. She directs the many faceted volunteer programs in New York City.

Mrs. Cambone will discuss the training needs of both agencies and volunteers to prepare for a more beneficial relationship.

Finally, Mrs. Crawford will suggest how to provide meaningful volunteer experiences. She has developed worthwhile placement for New Paltz students in 15 local agencies.

Delegates will participate also in discussion groups on the implementation of the speakers' recommendations specifically relating to Junior League volunteers.

The conference will be limited to 40 (forty) members of each of the three Junior Leagues.

Rondout Valley School Lists Spring Concert

Choir I and Choir II of Rondout Valley High School will present their annual Spring Concert on Saturday, April 27 at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium. All area residents are invited to attend this varied program. The group recently won first place honors in the Mid-Hudson Choral Festival.

The award-winning Choir I will present a group of popular selections, including "I Believe in Music," "Morning Has Broken," "Gethsemane" (from Jesus Christ Superstar), and "Comedy Tonight." They will also perform a number, "In the Beginning," by Daniel Pinkham, with a prerecorded tape using synthesized sounds. The composition is taken from the Book of Genesis.

Both groups, under the direction of Mrs. Barbara Lottridge, will sing the numbers they will perform at the annual Spring State Competition Festival.

Long-Time Worker Wants 'Divorce Shower'

DEAR ABBY: For years I have contributed to office collections for coworkers on the occasion of their engagements, marriages, anniversaries, births, deaths in the family, new homes, etc. My wife and I separated a year ago, and I've been rooming with another man since then. Now I'm getting my own apartment, and I need all the things a couple needs to set up housekeeping — sheets, towels, dishes, appliances, etc. (My wife took everything when we split up.) Since I can't afford to buy all these things at once, I have proposed a "divorce shower" at work. It might even be appropriate for the gifts to be used items, since it's a second start for me.

The general reaction in the office was favorable, but some were on the fence. We agreed to abide by your advice as to whether this idea was too outrageous or actually a sensible way to help me out with a problem.

POTLESS

DEAR POTLESS: The idea makes a lot of sense to me. But you shouldn't "propose" the shower yourself, anymore than a bride should "propose" her own shower. (P. S. Yours is not actually a "divorce shower," it's a miscellaneous shower for a man who's setting up housekeeping and doesn't have a pot.)

DEAR ABBY: I work in an office building. There's a woman down the hall who smokes about a pack of cigarettes a day, and she burns every one of them!

She knows there are several smokers in this office, so she runs in just about every 30 minutes and asks if "anybody" has a cigarette.

I asked her why she didn't buy some, and she said: "I'm not supposed to be smoking at all and if I buy them I'll only smoke them." (I wonder what she thinks she is doing with the cigarettes she burns off us?)

Is there some real sharp answer we can give her when she comes in here to bum a cigarette?

SUCKER

DEAR SUCKER: Don't look for a "sharp" answer. Tell her if she's going to smoke she'll have to buy her own. That's sharp enough.

DEAR ABBY: I have been dating Henry for six months. He says he does not have a telephone at home. I do not have the phone number of the night or day jobs where he works. He says they allow only emergency calls, so he does all the calling.

One day I asked him where he lived and he said: "I can't give you the address because I'm moving right now." When I asked him where to send his Christmas card, he said: "Just hand it to me."

I have never been introduced to any of his friends, and he says he doesn't have any family.

Once I came right out and asked him if he was married, and he said no. He is always telling me I ask too many questions. I have a feeling he is not being honest with me. There are things I would like to know about him because I am falling in love with him. Why do you think he's so secretive?

IN THE DARK
DEAR IN: It's just a wild guess, but I'd say he's either married or living with someone. Unless he's willing to let you know where he lives and where he works, you'd

(Editor's note: Foster care has become the most common form of placement for children without families. Roughly half of these children will remain in foster care throughout their childhoods.)

What is it like to have a foster child in the home? Mrs. Neil Whitehurst, member of Action for Foster Children Committee in Kingston, has submitted this family story to the Women's Department of The Daily Freeman as one explanation.)

Mr. and Mrs. Murphy are among the growing ranks of middle class couples who have chosen to share their lives with a foster child. Like all foster parents, they have agreed to provide a home for somebody else's child, but unlike many foster parents they did not set out to look for a foster child. Mrs. Murphy's sister and brother-in-law were participating in a weekend visiting program from a child care agency. A 10-year-old boy named Patrick was spending occasional weekends with the couple and then he would be returned to the agency during the week. Mr. and Mrs. Murphy met the boy at their relatives' home and from there the relationship developed.

At the time the Murphys met Patrick, they already had two little girls of their own but wanted a boy too. They felt they could provide love and security for this new child whom they were growing to be concerned about. They applied to the agency and Patrick was placed with the Murphys for foster care.

"When Patrick came to us last summer he was, in many ways like a three year old. He had no concept of time or numbers; he did not read or feel the need to read; he couldn't write and his attitude (after the initial politeness wore off) was 'OK, now I have this; what else are you going to give me?'"

According to Mrs. Murphy the first few months were very difficult. Patrick was in a foreign environment with foreign values and an entirely different way of life. The first few months were full of getting to know each other and testing. He had to know how much they would give, how much they would take, and whether they would send him back if he misbehaved. The Murphys knew they could not say to the foster child what they would not say to their own—they could not threaten to send him away. In contrast, the Murphys learned that they could not judge the foster child's behavior by the same standards as they used for their own children. Because of Patrick's previous upbringing, he felt "If I can get it, it's mine." At the Murphys' he had to learn to respect other people's belongings and, in turn, his would not be tampered with. Patrick's questions during the first few months reflected the state of mind he was in. When he heard about sextuplets that were born he said "How do they decide which baby to keep?" When neighborhood children came to ask him to play softball he asked, "What is a softball?" Another poignant question was "where do people get their last names from?" In the process of helping to learn his numbers and letters, he said to Mrs. Murphy, "Don't you know I'm stupid?"

After tutoring during the summer, Patrick entered a child study class in a local school district. From September 1973 to the present, he has progressed three grade levels. He is continually increasing his ability for concentration and self control.

He is learning that the Murphys don't promise what they can't deliver. He's learning to trust them. He's learning that permissiveness is not love and discipline is not dislike. He's learning responsibility and respect for himself and other members of the family. He has learned that reading is fun, especially if reading the rules can help win a checker game. He has learned that many kinds of food taste good—not just steak and candy.

Good things have happened to the Murphys too. They have found that the adults and children in their neighborhood have

Post: Doing the Right Thing

By Elizabeth L. Post
© 1973, Emily Post Institute, Inc.

Dear Mrs. Post: Last week some friends came over for a cocktail before we all went out to dinner. Our baby sitter was taking the baby out to the kitchen when they arrived, and I didn't introduce her to them. My husband thinks I was wrong not to do so. Would you settle our argument?

CAROLYN JOHNSON
Dear Mrs. Johnson: I'm with your husband on this. If the girl had already been in the kitchen or another part of the house, it would not be necessary to call her to come and meet your friends, but since she was right there in plain view, you should have introduced her.

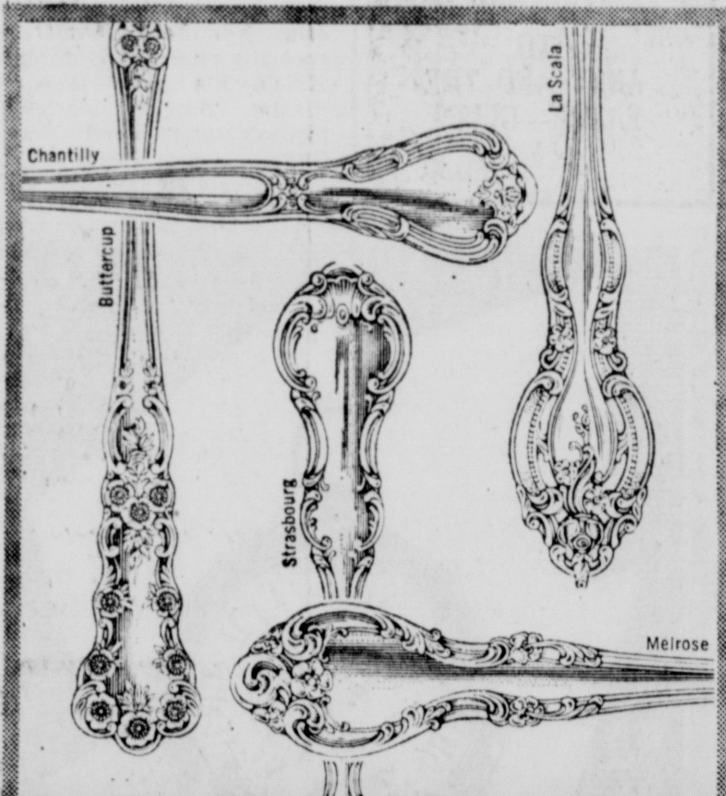

Dear Mrs. Post: My sister eloped and got married in a civil ceremony in another state. The "cat is out of the bag," and she and her husband are coming home in April and would like to be remarried in a religious ceremony and have a reception. Would that be proper, and if so, what is the correct procedure?

Audrey
Dear Audrey: Since your sister is already married, the religious ceremony should be "just family." She should not wear a white wedding gown, nor should they have more than two attendants. She may have as large a reception as she wishes, however, to celebrate the occasion.

Dear Mrs. Post: I am getting married in June and would naturally like my best and dearest friend for my matron of honor. I am thirty-four and she is forty-four. I've been told that she can't be my attendant due to the ten-year age difference. There is no one else I would even consider. I don't see what difference age makes, if she and I are both willing to go ahead.

What is your opinion?
PATRICIA
Dear Patricia: Although ordinarily, bridesmaids should

Mendelssohn Club Concert

SOPRANO BARBARA HARDGRAVE and pianist, Harry Jensen, pictured rehearsing in Mr. Jensen's studio for their upcoming appearance as guests of the Mendelssohn Glee Club. Miss Hardgrave will perform two groups of art songs from an extensive repertoire she and Mr. Jensen have developed and presented throughout the Mid Hudson Valley.

Guest soloist for the Mendelssohn Glee Club's annual spring concert will be Soprano Barbara Hardgrave, it was announced today. Miss Hardgrave is an Assistant Professor of Music at the State University of New Paltz, as is her accompanist, pianist Harry Jensen. Both are well known for their concerts and recitals throughout the Mid Hudson area.

Miss Hardgrave is a native of Arkansas and a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music at Boston. In addition to teaching voice at New Paltz, she has been a featured soloist with the New Paltz Concert Choir in the performance of such major works as Bach's "St. John's Passion," "Magnaificat" and (on April 25 & 26) the "Mass in B Minor," as well as Mozart's "Requiem." She sang lead roles last year in two locally produced operas, "The Old Maid and the Thief" and "La Serva Padrona." Miss Hardgrave studied at the Oglebay Opera Workshop and Tanglewood and is a pupil of Adah Mase Curran of Newburgh. Mrs. Curran was a close friend of the late Robert Williams, director of the Mendelssohn Club from 1947 through 1949, and appeared as a guest soloist with the club during that period.

Harry Jensen, accompanist for Miss Hardgrave in her appearance with the Mendelssohn Club, is a concert artist in his own right. He is a graduate of Northwestern University with a Master of Music Degree in cello, has studied under several contemporary masters of that instrument and has made concert tours in Canada and several Eastern states. He has given many concerts in the area as both cellist and pianist.

The spring concert will be held Tuesday, May 14 in the Kingston High School Auditorium. It is the 71st in the series of annual complimentary concerts presented by the glee club and its patron members. Admission to the concert is free, two complimentary tickets are required.

An old-fashioned "afterglow" will be held at the Holiday Inn afterwards for members of the Mendelssohn club, their families and for associate members and their families. The after-glow will feature a light buffet, an informal reception for the guest artists and some more singing by Miss Hardgrave and various members of the glee club. Associate members may contact John Breithaupt to make reservations. Additional details about the concert will be announced.

Thoroughness, precision and speed, which are hallmarks of a great hospital like the Hadassah-Hebrew University Medical Center, were strikingly apparent especially in the Ophthalmology Department during the Yom Kippur War. Eye cases were rushed to Hadassah Hospital from the front after treatment at field hospitals, because of sophisticated equipment and specialists available only at Hadassah, the local chapter's spokesman says.

The Hadassah Hospital Ophthalmology Department contains more than ten subspecialty clinics — Glaucoma, External Eye Diseases, Plastic Surgery including transplantation, and Neuro-Ophthalmology, which worked unceasingly to save the sight of soldiers whose wounds were often unique. Doctors were helped in their efforts by a number of new instruments and techniques.

Instruments include: A tiny probe, called a Vitreous Cutter, developed by Hadassah doctors, is used to suction out internal eye hemorrhages, simultaneously injecting a transparent fluid to enable light to reach the retina and restore sight.

A transparent plastic lens is implanted in the pupils of eyes which developed cataracts due to trauma. Using a new technique, Hadassah doctors were able to remove the lens afflicted with a cataract and implant the custom-fitted replacement lens during the same surgical operation. This eliminates waiting until both eyes are "ripe" for the operation, and the need for thick-lensed spectacles during the post-operative period.

For reattaching the retina without injuring it at the point of reattachment, a new technique, unique of its kind, involves operating on the outside of the eyeball without entering the eye. Because of this, complications are minimized and patients can be ambulatory from the day of the operation.

A Fluorescent Radiation Detector, built by the Ophthalmology Department in conjunction with the Physics Department of the Hebrew University, enables doctors to determine the exact nature of metallic foreign particles. Magnetic metals are removed by means of an electromagnet. Though non-magnetic fragments such as copper or lead must be removed by surgery since they are highly toxic, such particles, too, were successfully removed from eyes of soldiers during the war.

Hadassah members who wish to volunteer their time on May 1st to Help Save An Eye, may contact Mrs. Leon Crystal or Mrs. Morton Lurie, both of Kingston, for detailed information.

RUB-A-DUE DUB
—LOOK WHAT'S IN THE TUB!

Dear Heloise:
Bathbubs are good for many things besides just a regular old bath. If you think about it, you'll be surprised at all the things you can do in your bathtub.

—I soak the venetian blinds so I will not have to scrub them. Then I rinse them under the shower.

—I always sit on a stool in the bathtub when I stuff toys with shredded foam.

—Where else can you wash a dog and not have him run away, especially if he is a good-sized dog who hates water?

—It is a marvelous place to store house plants while on vacation to keep them watered and healthy. I have kept plants there for six weeks and not lost one.

I soak blankets I don't want to put in the washer to agitate or spin at high speed.

Of course, all sorts of things drip dry into the only thing in the house large enough to take a lot of dripping things at one time.

On occasion, when the kitchen sink has been stopped up, I have even soaked the dishes there. Sure can do a lot in a hurry.

Here is a toy that should make that even more fun.

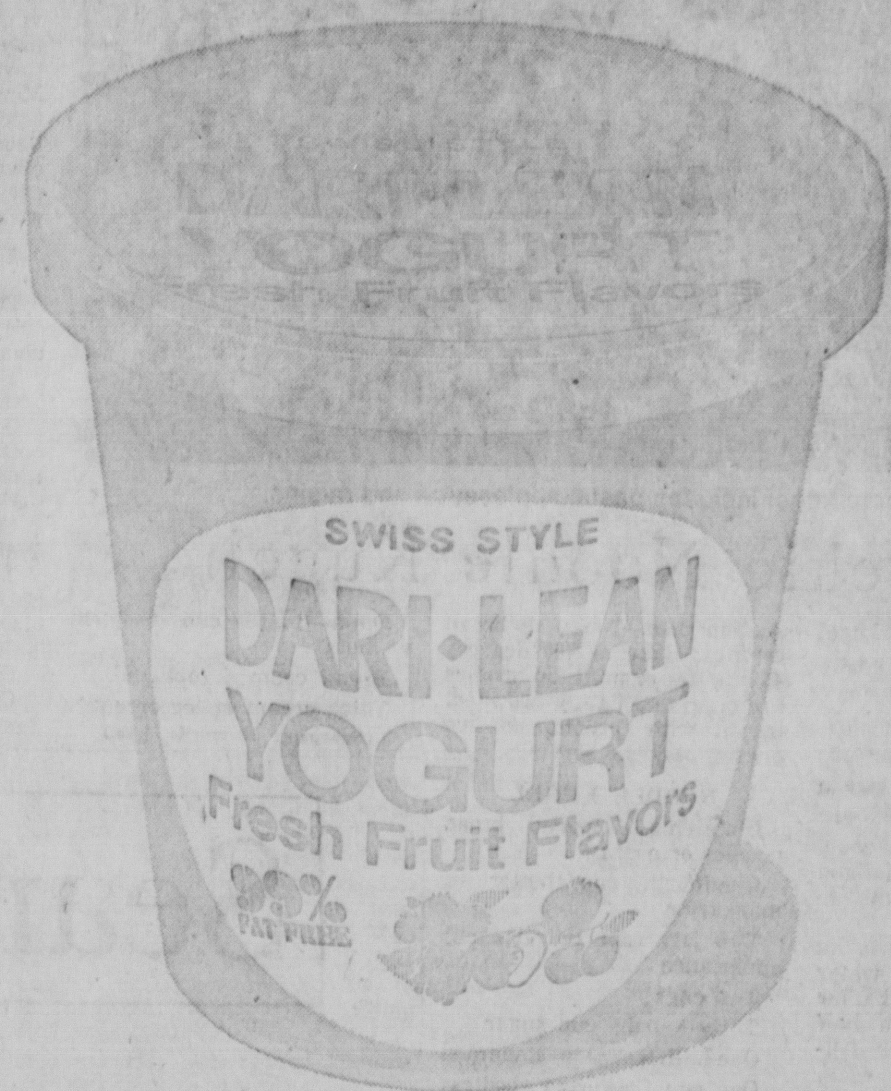

Wash a half-gallon or quart plastic bottle. Put about one dozen dried beans inside and screw and glue the lid on

Your dog will love this clicking, clacking toy to throw around and chase after.

Noodle kugel includes pasta, applesauce and raisins.

Quickie Noodle Kugel

A quickie noodle kugel combines curly-edged pasta, applesauce, raisins and spice for a delicious dessert. Topped with cream or ice cream, it is a taste cousin to the kugels which are popular in the Slavic countries, Germany and Holland but takes far less time to prepare.

Cook noodles or pasta in plenty of boiling salted water until tender. Butter a shallow baking dish and spoon half of the applesauce over bottom. Toss noodles with eggs, sugar, spice, raisins, nuts and remaining applesauce.

Add to dish. Top with bread crumbs. Bake at 400 degrees 45 minutes or until top noodles are crisp and lightly browned. Serve with cream or ice cream. Makes 6 servings.

NOODLE KUGEL

One-half pound broad noodles or pasta
One-fourth cup butter or margarine
Two jars (one pound each) applesauce
Two eggs
Three-fourths cup sugar
One-half teaspoon cinnamon
One cup California seedless raisins

One-half cup chopped walnuts
Bread crumbs (optional)
Thick cream or ice cream (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Do-Ahead Meatballs Party Ready

By AILEEN CLAIRE

Everyone is on the search for do-ahead foods. Meatball lovers will be happy to know that a quantity of party meatballs will freeze well. Store in oven cooking bags and cook in the same bag in a roasting pan or heavy oven casserole as needed. If serving is delayed, hold the meatballs in the bag to keep them from drying out. Meatballs will keep safely in freezer storage in the plastic bags. For longer storage, overwrap them with heavy duty aluminum foil and tag with day of storage.

MAKE-AHEAD MEATBALLS

Two pounds ground beef
One-fourth cup finely chopped onion
Two teaspoons salt
One-eighth teaspoon pepper
One-half teaspoon sage
One-half teaspoon dry mustard
Four eggs, beaten
Four slices soft bread, broken in small pieces
Two teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
One package (one and one-half ounces) dry spaghetti
Oen and one-half cups water
One can (eight ounces) tomato sauce

Make-ahead meatballs store well in oven cooking bags for at least a month.

Combine ground beef, onion, salt, pepper, sage and dry mustard. Mix eggs, bread and Worcestershire sauce together. Add to beef mixture. Shape 1 tablespoon of meat mixture into ball. Place in plastic oven cooking bag and continue with remaining mixture. Combine spaghetti sauce mix, water and tomato sauce. Pour over meatballs. Close bag with twist tie. Freeze. For prolonged storage, overwrap with heavy duty aluminum foil. When ready to cook, remove bag from freezer and preheat oven to 350-degrees. Place in oven bag in two-inch deep roasting pan. Make six half-inch slits in top of bag. Cook for one hour. Makes 6 dozen meatballs.

Rangers One Away... Knicks Far Away

Harris' OT Goal Does It

MONTREAL (AP) — Ron Harris smiled his best gap-toothed smile and laughed. "I still can't believe it," he admitted.

Neither could his New York Ranger teammates after Harris, easily the least likely man on the team to do it, scored the overtime goal that lifted the Rangers to a 3-2 victory over Montreal in the pivotal fifth game of their National Hockey League quarter-final playoff Tuesday night.

This is the same Ron Harris who hadn't scored a goal since last November or even assisted on one since last December. Now he has produced two key scores in the last two Stanley Cup games and if he keeps this up, he's liable to have the Canadiens shadowing him.

Harris will never be confused for a scoring threat. He is essentially a defenseman, a plodding skater who depends on a hitting game. But in this series, he has been shifted to right wing to provide the Rangers with more maneuverability and he has responded in a most unexpected way—by scoring goals.

Actually, Harris kiddingly called his shot for Tuesday night's winner. "I told my wife that if we went into overtime, I'd score the winner," he said, laughing at the irony of it.

What was Carol Harris' reaction to that pre-game boast?

"She laughed," said Harris.

Harris' game-winner came at 4:07 of the extra period after Pete Stelmowski had beaten Montreal's Pete Mahovich on a faceoff in the Canadiens' end of the rink.

"I blame myself," said Mahovich. "We were on and we couldn't get the puck out. (Coach) Scotty (Bowman) took us off but put us back. I was winning most of the draws in my own end, but not that one."

Stelmowski, consistently the Rangers' best faceoff man, won the draw and the puck came right to Harris, who never moved. "I was in position and the puck came right to my stick," said the unlikely hero. "I just drew back and hit it. It was a half-wrist, half-slapshot. I just let it go."

The 40-footer zipped past Canadiens' goalie Bunny Larocque, ending the tense, tight game which the Rangers had tied with only 16 seconds left to play on Bruce MacGregor's second goal of the night.

Goalie Ed Giacomin, brilliant all night in the New York nets, had been lifted for an extra skater in the final minute with the Rangers trailing 2-1. New York kept the puck in the Canadiens' end, forcing several faceoffs. Stelmowski won the last one and the puck went skimming to Brad Park who shot from the blue line.

"I got good wood on it," said Park. "And as soon as I hit it, Bruce went for the net. That's experience."

As Park's shot sailed for the net, so did MacGregor. "The goalie juggled the puck and it dropped to his left," said MacGregor, who has scored five goals in this series. "I was able to get there in time for the rebound."

MacGregor's first goal in the opening period had also tied the score, balancing a goal by Henri Richard scored in the game's first minute. After a scoreless second period, Murray Wilson put Montreal ahead with the Canadiens' first shot of the final 20 minutes. It looked like that goal would stand up and it did, for all but the final 16 ticks of the huge Montreal Forum clock.

Now the teams return to New York for a sixth game, Thursday night. If the Rangers win that one, they will move on to the semifinals against Philadelphia. If the Canadiens win, it will be back to Montreal for a seventh game Sunday. Bowman is planning on the latter.

"Three games in this series have been won by the visiting team," the Canadiens' coach said. "We are not going down there for nothing."

Bucks - Bulls: Too Quiet

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Everybody expected cannons and buckshot but instead all they got was popguns.

The thought was that when the Milwaukee Bucks and Chicago Bulls opened their best-of-seven series for the NBA Western Conference title, the fireworks would rival a Fourth of July picnic.

Instead it was more like a quelling bee Tuesday night when the Bucks beat Chicago 101-85 to take a 1-0 lead in the series.

The Bucks and Bulls have been involved in some rough-house battles this season and the last regular season game was marred by several fights and the expulsion of Dennis Awtrey for punching Kareem Abdul-Jabbar.

"We didn't play with any intensity at all," Bulls' Coach Dick Motta said. "I was afraid as soon as we walked out of the locker room. When we broke for the opening tip it was very quiet. We didn't burst out there. We just walked."

"I thought we were ready on the bus coming up here. I'm confused and disappointed," Bulls' Coach Larry Costello, while calling it a "great win," wasn't a whole lot more.

Celtics Now Up By Two

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Boston Celtics would like the New York Knicks to know they're thinking of an early champagne shower.

Boston went two-up on New York in their best-of-seven series Tuesday night with an 111-99 victory and the odds are mounting they'll be 3-0 after Friday night.

The Celtics, mindful of last year's second game shellacking in the NBA Eastern Conference finals with New York, waited 24 minutes before turning Tuesday's game around.

New York enjoyed a 60-53 halftime lead, then cooled off as Boston waltzed away with a 19-4 surge in the third period.

"Defense and rebounding in the second half keyed the win," explained Boston Coach Tom Heinsohn. "We were relentless. We kept coming at them and they got tired. There's no question this was a big victory. But we have to play two more super games."

Boston hasn't won an NBA championship since 1969, when they beat Los Angeles in seven games. The Celtics lost to New York in preliminary playoff rounds the last two seasons but vow they won't be denied this year.

"However, we're not going to get overconfident," promised team captain John Havlicek, who had a smashing first quarter with 19 points, three under the record of 22 held by Elgin Baylor for a non-final playoff game. "I've been ahead 2-0 and 3-1 before and know things can change in an awful hurry."

Havlicek scored seven straight baskets in closing out Boston's scoring in the first quarter but the Celtics' 33-25 lead vanished when the Knicks went on tears of 15-3 and 10-2 in the second period while holding Havlicek scoreless.

A weary Dave DeBusschere, who hit 3-of-4 shots in the first half, bogged down the Knicks defense in the third quarter when he suffered a recurring stomach muscle pull. He was outrebounded by Paul Silas and failed to hit any of the seven shots he took after intermission. Coach Red Holzman kept him out 13 minutes of the second half.

"I think it's extremely difficult to come back from a 2-0 deficit," DeBusschere said sadly, but then added: "but it's not impossible."

Hambletonian Is Race Without a Home for 1975

By The Associated Press

The president of the Hambletonian Society says no city has an inside track on hosting harness racing's annual classic, spurned recently by Philadelphia's Liberty Bell Park.

But it won't be long before cities such as Saratoga Springs and Syracuse know who will get the bid for the 1975 Hambletonian.

Max Hempt said Tuesday night the Society had called a special meeting for April 28 in New York City to decide. Hempt was interviewed by The Associated Press from his home in Mechanicsburg, Pa.

"I haven't talked to enough of the directors to know what their sentiments are (about a new selection)," Hempt said. The Hambletonian is scheduled this summer for DuQuoin, Ill. Philadelphia was scheduled to have taken over for a three-year term beginning in 1975.

But Hempt hinted that DuQuoin could be a strong contender for the next three-year term. The Hambletonian has been run there for the past 17 years.

"I think if DuQuoin is still interested, the fact that they are interested would make them a strong contender," Hempt said.

He said the Society had written Monday to all cities that had submitted bids last fall, asking that they notify the Society by April 28 if their bid is still effective.

Both Saratoga Springs and Syracuse are anxious to get the bid, officials from both cities said Tuesday.

Ernest B. Morris, president of Saratoga Harness, said, "Saratoga's board of directors has authorized me to resubmit our bid, subject to an agreement with the New York Racing Association."

The agreement stipulates that NYRA's mile and one-eighth thoroughbred track at Saratoga Springs be used for the Hambletonian, which must be run on a track at least one mile in length. The Saratoga Harness track is one-half mile.

In Syracuse, New York State Fair director Norm Rothschild said, "We're sorry to hear the Hambletonian Society is having difficulty with the location of the race, but we're delighted to have another opportunity to project ourselves back in the picture."

State Fair officials, who had the backing last fall of former Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, were among those bidding unsuccessfully for the Hambletonian.

fully for the Hambletonian.

However, a spokesman for Gov. Malcolm Wilson said it was unlikely Wilson would take sides between Syracuse or Saratoga Springs.

When the presidents of Liberty Bell Racing Association and William Penn Racing Association confirmed they would pull out of the Hambletonian, Hempt said it came as a surprise.

"You've seen a recall of a horse race, haven't you," he said. "Well, that's what happened to us. Nobody likes that."

Differences over the expense in handling the Hambletonian program between the two Philadelphia groups prompted them to toss the race back to the Hambletonian Society. The groups share meetings in Liberty Bell Park.

When the time came to sign the contract last Saturday, however, Edward J. Dougherty, president of Liberty Bell, was prepared to sign, but John J. Rooney, head of William Penn, refused.

"There were more requirements than in the contract we bid for," Rooney said. "We went along with Liberty Bell on the $115,000 guarantee for the purse. With the nominating

The Dutchess County Scholastic League track and field season opened Tuesday with Kingston High downing Beacon, 80-68, and losing to Roosevelt, 85-56, while Saugerties was taking a 76-60 1/2 decision from Poughkeepsie.

Jim Kwasnowski was a double winner for the Maroons, sweeping both hurdles events. Kingston also got top-notch efforts from Jay Rogers in the 880, Norm Adameit in the 880, and both the 880 and one-mile relay teams.

Saugerties also had a double in the hurdles from one of its own: Steve Wehr. Coach Bud Smith's team had first place finishes as well from Kevin Bannen in the 440, Steve Schoemer in the 880, Art DeCelle in the mile, Dennis Holmquist in the two-mile, Mike Meconis in the shot put, George Peterson in the triple jump, Rich Dussol in the pole vault, and all three relay teams.

Saugerties hosts Kingston and John Jay next Tuesday.

Carol Mann Speaker At Northeastern PGA

ALBANY Carol Mann, president of the National Ladies PGA, will address the annual Spring Educational Seminar of the Northeastern New York PGA, Monday, April 29, at the Holiday Inn. Her topic will be: "The Women's Place in the World of Professional Golf."

The personable Miss Mann, at 6-foot-3 the tallest player in the LPGA ranks, is also rated one of the greatest women golfers in history. More important, her off-course contribution to golf in promoting the sport at every opportunity rewarded this year when she was elected president of the LPGA at a time when a number of critical issues were pending.

Earnings of $47,000 on the 1973 LPGA tour and a first place finish in the prestigious Sears Classic gave Miss Mann a lifetime total of 32 tournament victories and boosted her career earnings to more than $300,000.

good for fourth place on the all-time list.

As an amateur, Carol won the Western Junior Championship in 1958, the Chicago District Golf Association Junior title in the same year and the women's championship in 1960. One of the biggest draws on the tour, Miss Mann is known for her keen sense of humor.

In 1965, Carol won the USGA Women's Open and in 1968, when she won 10 tour events, Miss Mann had 23 rounds in the 60's, still a record for the LPGA. She is also owner of the lowest stroke average for a season, 72.04, set in 1968 during 93 rounds in official events.

Miss Mann's career low round is 67 (three times) and lowest 72-hole score (285 in 1965). She still holds the all-time LPGA record of 200 for a 54-hole event.

A native of Buffalo, the 33-year-old Miss Mann now resides in Towson, Maryland. She started playing in 1952 and turned professional in 1952. After attending high school in Chicago, she attended the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina.

Lamonica to WFL

By JACK STEVENSON

ANAHEIM (AP) — Oakland quarterback Daryle Lamonica joins the increasing list of professional players jumping to the new World Football League which now has 1-2 punched the Raiders.

Ken Stabler of Oakland earlier announced that in 1976 he would join Birmingham and now Lamonica has signed to join the Southern California Sun in 1975.

Both have contractual obligations left in the National Football League and both will be striving to be No. 1 at Oakland for 1974.

Then Lamonica will start collecting on a multi-year, possibly $1 million contract.

He and the team were careful not to announce any money figures but a league official said, "I understand that figure isn't far out of the ballpark."

Lamonica, from Fresno, Calif., starred at Notre Dame and will be starting his 12th year in pro ball. He has been an All-Pro one player to the new World Football League and by signing with Birmingham of the WFL.

The Sun also announced former Southern California All-American Marlin McKeever, a 25-year-old veteran of more than a dozen years in the NFL, had been signed to a playing contract, also a multi-year pact with no salary figures announced.

Coach Tom Fears said the veteran linebacker would not automatically become the defensive captain but indicated his long experience will be put to good use. In the NFL, McKeever played with Los Angeles, Washington and Philadelphia.

General Manager Curly Morrison said the signing of the two did not necessarily end the Southern California pro team's aspirations to NFL talent.

"We are still negotiating with some of them," he said. "We're trying to get six or seven or maybe eight by the 1975 season."

The Sun is trying to land All-Pro offensive guard Tom Mack of the Los Angeles Rams, among others.

The Sun now has 81 players under contract with the practices due to start on June 8 at Fullerton State College.

The Southern California team's first big signings were college players—running backs Kermit Johnson and James McAlister of UCLA and tackle Booker Brown of the University of Southern California.

Owner Larry Hatfield of the Sun, said his organization expected to lose at least $1 million but not $2 million in becoming established over the next two years.

Detroit Signs Mitchell

DETROIT (UPI) — The year contract for unknown Detroit Lions have already lost terms and unrevealed duration Tuesday after recently losing one player to the new World Football League and by signing wide receiver Ron Jessie to Birmingham of the WFL.

"I had a very lucrative offer from the New York (Stars) team in the WFL," the 6-foot-4, 250-pound Mitchell said, "but I turned it down."

Ketcham High And John Jay DCSL Picks

ARLINGTON Defending champion Ketcham High and John Jay, Section I tournament champions, are co-favored in the 10-team women's Dutchess County Scholastic League women's softball league this season.

Coach Pat Burke says Kingston High will have a well rounded team, with fairly strong pitching. "We are looking forward to a good season," she says.

Ketcham, coached by Barb Webster, won the DCSL last year but was eliminated in the semi-final round of Section I. Six veterans return but the outstanding absentee will be last year's star pitcher, Barb Montrose. "If we get the pitching, we will do fine," says Coach Webster.

Coach Barb Donaldson's John Jay squad placed only third in the regular DCSL race last season, but went on to win the sectional tournament. Seven of the starting nine players are returning and these girls are mostly juniors and a few sophomores. With a steady infield and experienced outfield, pitching again becomes the key factor.

Arlington High finished second in the league last year and has six players returning. Coach Val Cally's squad made it to the semi-final round of the sectionals and the outlook is for another good season.

Seven players, including four seniors, return to Coach Sue Koehler's Poughkeepsie High squad. The Pioneers were 4-4 last season, but Coach Koehler says, "We look forward to improving that record."

Other teams in the league and coaches are: Beacon, Joanne Paulds; Pawling, Suzi Paganetti; Rhinebeck, Linda Krause; Roosevelt (3-5), Sandi Zwinscher.

Spackenkill will field a softball team for the first time. Coach Claire Taylor says, "the turnout has been great and we're hoping for the best."

Area Sports Briefs

KINGSTON Pat Gorman, the former UCCC basketball statistician, has returned from a Florida winter baseball umpires school to pick up another year of experience on the local level. Look for him in area Little League, Babe Ruth, high school and Hudson Valley Rookie League action...

Two Hunter Mountain regulars—Mrs. Goldye Slutsky and Mrs. Anna Gene Hemlow—won free trips to Sun Valley, Idaho in the NASTAR National promotion and competed in their categories for the Schlitz Cup in Sun Valley the last weekend in March... Thanks to the snow-makers and late season snowfalls, Belleaire Ski Center had 118 days of consecutive operation through Easter Sunday. Terming the season "fantastic," Nelson Sears, the superintendent, pointed out the usual season is about 90 consecutive days... Hunter closed out after more than 110 consecutive days, then reopened after the last snowblast.

Saugerties Softball League continues to grow, with record 26 teams set for the 1974 season. The league was founded in 1960 by Ben Rinaldi, who served as president for four years. Vernon (Joe) Benjamin then filled the post for one season and was succeeded by Jack Keeley, who was recently reelected for his 10th consecutive term. The league started with six teams, expanded to seven in 1964, to nine in 1965, 14 in 1966 and has since steadily grown to reach this year's figure of 26 teams.

The league erected its own lighting facilities in 1966, donating them to the Town of Saugerties. Over the years it also made numerous improvements to the playing field. In recent years, the Town Recreation Commission has been instrumental in additional improvements such as a permanent home run fence and big league-style drop-in bases. The SSL came under the auspices of the Saugerties Athletic Association in 1971.

Division I Baseball Wide Open Race

KINGSTON At least one team from the UCL's Division I is going to make the post season baseball playoffs, but at this point a favorite is hard to find. Ellenville should be better as should Pine Bush. Liberty usually wins but looks weaker, and Fallsburgh is a totally new entry.

At least confidence is not in short supply, and the Ellies may have enough reasons to consider themselves the team to beat. The graduation toll was small, the hitting is good, and coach Lance Lewin has several established front line performers to depend upon.

Dave Stanton will be one of the keys. A Freeman All Star honorable mention as a junior, Stanton will anchor a strong outfield. Steve Tennenbaum provides another bat as will Rick Ellison and Ray Younger. Don Wilhelm made a splash on the mound last year with a no-hitter, and he'll be back for another try. Big Ron Storms can heave it as well as hit it.

Set Registration For Rondout BRL

STONE RIDGE Rondout Valley Babe Ruth League has announced registration and tryouts for all new boys, 13 through 15 years of age, Saturday, April 20, at 2 p.m. at the Washington School.

Rick Ellison, Tony Del Gaizo, Mike and Bob Minuck, Scott Eck and Joe Grabie can fill up most of the holes. It's a veteran team with plenty of speed that is likely to improve upon an 8-10 record.

Pine Bush coach Marshall Canosa agreed. "Ellenville should be good," he said, "but if our pitching and defense holds up, this could be the year."

It's Canosa's third year with essentially the same team, so while the self-appraisal may sound familiar, perhaps it should be taken more seriously this time.

"We have good defense, some pitching, and our hitting is questionable," said Canosa. Marc Blanco's hitting isn't questionable. He slammed .340 last year while patrolling center field.

Steve Pirog, a soph second baseman, is expected to give the Bushmen punch. Veterans are George Del Vecchio at first, Angie Melendez at short and Steve Francisco in right. Canosa is hoping a couple of batting averages will creep above .300 this season.

Jack Adams and Mike Della Pia will carry most of the pitching load.

Fallsburgh also has experience, but how well the Comets will fare in the UCL remains to be seen. If basketball and soccer were any indicators, give Stan Levy's squad an even money shot.

Cagers Norris Gilmore (catcher), Sam Copeland (outfielder), Al Smith (pitcher), Terry Patton (pitcher), Chuck Ferraro's Bowlerama. Earner, also received an American Junior Bowling Congress patch award for a 154 triplicate.

WOODSTOCK CLASSIC—Merrill Smith 588, Gloria Allen 541, June Swart 211-542, Nancy Penich 208-539, Pat Irving 483; team highs: Woodstock Colonial Pharmacy 1044.

MID-CITY QUADS — Marion Breuckner 223-526, Lucy Dougherty 461, Pat Hines 455, Marlene Blanshan 453, Arlene Imperial 451; team highs: Greco Motors 631-1625.

Katrina Van Tassel's 584 New Record

SAUGERTIES Katrina Van Tassel rolled 584 for a new Ulster County Junior Bowling Association Junior Girl record in the association's travelling league. The 14-year-old bowler carries a 149 average in the junior program at Bowlers Club lanes.

Katrina put together games of 169, 218 and 197 to eclipse the 575 set earlier this season by Mary Ann Buboltz at she had rolled triples of 519 and ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — All two of the state's 45 public campsites in the Catskill and Adirondack Forest preserves will open for the season on Friday, May 17, the Department of Environmental Conservation announced today.

The Beaverkill land in Livingston County will have 12 Notch campsites will open two weeks earlier, on May 3, to the convenience of fishermen wanting to try two of the state's more trout streams—the Beaverkill in the Catskills and the West Branch the Ausable River in the Adirondacks.

Rates will be the same as last year: $2.50 per night or $1.50 per week. A day use fee of $1 per car remains in effect for those utilizing day use facilities.

An estimated one million people are expected to use the 45 public campsites this season.

All parties in interest and citizens of the County of Ulster are hereby notified that a Public Hearing will be held as aforesaid.

Your Horoscope

Thursday, April 18

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Make sure you pay that bill instead of making others angry. Show wisdom.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) It is important to make some changes today that are to your benefit, so don't delay in doing so. Don't waste time foolishly.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You think over more satisfying monetary arrangements with other persons and be sure to gain their cooperation. Don't impose on others.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Use tact in finding out how you today and win over others by kindness. Try to come to the aid of a good friend who needs help now.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Get out of the doldrums and into the work ahead of you.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You have responsibilities that need to be handled right away so don't run off on any tangents. Mate is not receptive now so use tact.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Use tact in finding out how you today and win over others by kindness. Try to come to the aid of a good friend who needs help now.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Although you have much to do, take the time to make your home more charming and comfortable. Sidelust one who here towards self-pity. Give finest education possible.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Take a good friend with you and have fun at hobbies that will be mutually enjoyed. Don't be forceful with mate at this time.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Don't use that blunt approach at home or there can be much tension and trouble resulting. Use tact and get things smoothed out.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You could be so busy handling unimportant matters that you lose out on something profitable or pleasurable. Think kindly of others.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Do whatever makes your home and other possessions more charming. Talk over with a clever business person how to be more prosperous.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Show kindness to others instead of hostility and you get along much better now. Avoid one who wants to get you into further debt.

WHICH? (Q.) Last year my sister got pregnant and my parents kicked her out. I'm pregnant now and don't know what to do. If I tell my folks they will kick me out, and if I tell my boyfriend he may leave me. He is 20 and I am 18.—Afraid in Arkansas.

(A.) Tell both your parents and your boyfriend. I believe your parents know now that they made a mistake last year so they won't be likely to repeat it. Your boyfriend may want to marry you and you may want to marry him.

YEAR YOUNGER: (Q.) I'm 17 and out of high school. I really am beginning to like this 16-year-old dude. He's a junior and I know I should go for older men, but he seems like he could do a lot for me.

(A.) The good thing about him is that I can enjoy being with him—not sexually, just being in his company. We're not hung up on sex. You don't have to have sex in order to love someone.

(A.) You're right about one thing—you don't have to have sex to love someone. You're wrong, however, if you think this boy is too young for you.

Opening lead—♥A

As we have said many times, "If you want to overbid you should learn to play the dummy well."

South's jump to four spades was a slight overbid. It should have been apparent to him that the ace of clubs would be right in back of his king.

Still South should have made his contract barring a really impossible defense. That impossible defense would start with West leading his eight of hearts. East would win and return a club. West would take two club tricks and lead a third club. East would ruff with the 10 of trumps and there would be no way for South to avoid the loss of a trump.

West did open the ace of hearts and continue. South ruffed and indulged in the luxury of playing his ace of spades. Then he led a diamond to dummy's king; a second diamond back to his ace and a third diamond to be ruffed low in dummy. Then he cashed dummy's king of trumps and led a club. East played the nine. South's king lost to the ace and West led back a low club to East's jack. East played a third heart and the hand collapsed.

South had three lines of play to make the hand. The simple one was to leave trumps entirely alone until after three rounds of diamonds. The other two are quite complicated. We will explain them to any reader who sends us a stamped addressed envelope.

JAWORSKI: Seeking More Tapes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski and the House Judiciary Committee want the tapes of 17 of President Nixon's Watergate-related conversations that took place during a four-day period over Palm Sunday weekend, 1973.

That was the weekend the Watergate cover-up unraveled, and a list of the tapes shows Nixon and his top aides held a flurry of talks, some late at night.

The committee subpoenaed a total of 41 tapes April 11 for its impeachment inquiry. Jaworski asked U.S. District Court Tuesday to subpoena tapes of 64 meetings and conversations in preparation for the Watergate conspiracy trial that starts Sept. 9.

Twenty-four conversations are sought by both Jaworski and the committee, including 17 talks that took place April 14, 1973.

It was on Saturday, April 14, that Jeb Stuart Magruder, the deputy campaign director, went to federal prosecutors to relate formally for the first time his knowledge of the Watergate affair, and then to the White House to say that he was doing so.

On Palm Sunday, April 15, Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst told Nixon the Justice Department's investigation had revealed involvement of White House and re-election committee aides in Watergate. That night, former White House Counsel John W. Dean III has testified, Nixon remarked to him in a low voice that he, the President, should not have discussed clemency for one of the original Watergate defendants.

Jaworski went to court for the subpoena after unsuccessfully requesting the material from the White House in letters dated Jan. 9, March 12 and April 11.

STANS: Last Big Witness

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans, who says there were at least 30 men of money who contributed as much or more to the 1972 Nixon campaign than the international wheeler-dealer Robert L. Vesco, was called as the final big witness in the Mitchell-Stans trial today.

Stans, 66, a bright-eyed and chipper little Middle West accountant and self-made millionaire, was the chief fundraiser for Nixon as chairman of the Finance Committee for the Re-election of the President and once was the main business spokesman in the Cabinet. Defense attorney Walter J.

Bonner laid the foundation for Stans' appearance with a lengthy reading to the federal court jury late Tuesday of Stans' grand jury testimony. It disclosed his figure of 31 big donors. Vesco was the biggest cash donor.

Stans and former Attorney General John N. Mitchell are accused of lying to the grand jury in denying they conspired to impede a federal investigation of Vesco's financial cutbacks in exchange for his secret $200,000 cash campaign gift. Vesco publicly contributed $50,000 more.

Stans was expected to be on the stand at least two days. After that, few or no witnesses were expected. The trial, first against former Cabinet members since the Harding administration scandals of the 1920s, should be in the jury's hands next week.

CALLEY: A Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Calling "mitigating circumstances," Secretary of the Army Howard Callaway cut in half Lt. William Calley's 20-year prison sentence for the massacre of Vietnamese civilians at My Lai.

As a result, Calley will be eligible for parole in less than six months, Army officials said Tuesday.

President Nixon will review the case. Army lawyers said he cannot increase the sentence again, but could cut it further or allow it to stand.

After reviewing the case for two months, Callaway technically upheld the 20-year prison sentence, forfeiture of all pay and Calley's dismissal from the service.

But, at the same time, he extended clemency in remitting half the 20-year sentence, saying:

"There are mitigating circumstances indicating Lt. Calley may have sincerely believed that he was acting in accordance with the orders he had received and that he was not aware of his responsibility to refuse such an illegal order." In Columbus, Ga., Calley's civilian attorney, Kenneth Henson, said it was disappointing that Callaway upheld both the sentence and conviction.

"We were hopeful of receiving full clemency and we're still hopeful that the President of the United States will exonerate Lt. Calley," Henson said.

In a separate action through the civil courts, Calley has appealed his original conviction on murder charges, and the appeal is pending in U.S. District Court in Columbus, Ga. Henson said he does not expect a hearing to be set before May or June.

Callaway said, "My decision here must serve the requirements of justice, meet the legitimate needs for sanction against such conduct by individual soldiers, and accord Lt. Calley an opportunity to return to society as a productive member."
